GERTRUDE EDERLE, genuine "Miss America," landed in her home town, "Little Old New York," yesterday. Friends and neighbors gave her a "block party."

New York's mayor gave her a reception with a band, and policemen parading.

The young lady brings honor and glory to her family and country.

GIRLS that try to be "skinny" notice that Gertrude, champion of the world, weighs over 160 pounds, is proud of it, and can have her choice of 1,000 good husbands.

And after she won her victory, conquering the channel, this young girl went, not to a cabaret, but straight to her old grandmother in the south of Germany.

The young will please observe that reverence for the old does not interfere with winning a world championship.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS and Mary Pickford returned from a trip around the world yesterday. They cut the trip short, Mary Pickford said, because there is so much to be seen in the United States that it seems almost a pity to use up time traveling abroad.

THE brilliant French aviator, D'Oisy crossing Africa at night, flew over the Mediterranean and on to Paris, covering 2,750 miles, including five stops, in 38 hours 45 minutes. D'Oisy, apparently made of steel, ran the machine throughout the 38 hours. Americans will fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as a regular thing, by the light of the same day, before long. A United States army flyer has already accomplished it.

KRISHNAMURTI is here, and those that have seen him like him. He will tell us interesting truths now, and later his delicate 100-pound body is to become an estatic new vehicle for the world teacher. He rebukes us for our devotion to physicial comfort.

"Ah," says he, "see how you love comfort! Your bathrooms. You neglect the high spiritual plane, you are so physical."

India has three times the United States' poulation. In the United States, at the lowest estimate, are 10,000 times as many bath tubs as in India. If those bath tubs represent a low spiritual plane, make the most of it.

THE "incandescent sunset" from India will have no monopoly of reforming Americans. Tenko Nishida, the "Socrates of Japan," exponent of "the life of Ittoen," has reached Honolulu, coming here.

He informs you, that "labor is prayer and prayer is labor," and doesn't mean eight-hour labor, either.

He and his wife worked their way across the Pacific, washing the ship's

RECORD VOTE EXPECTED IN TEXAS TODAY

Voters Decide Between "Ma" Ferguson and Dan Moody.

RUN OFF PRIMARY

Whistles Shriek and Church Bells Ring During Day.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 28.—While whistles shrilled in the cities and while church bells rang in the towns, Texas voters went to the polls today to decide the fate of Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, first woman to be elected governor in the United States, seeking re-election.

At the ballot boxes will be settled the classic political contest of the year in the southwest. On the one side is "Ma" Ferguson and her victriolic husband James E. Ferguson, former governor, ousted by the impeachment route. Pitted against them is Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, sometimes averred to as the "dragon fighter in business clothing." Moody gained fame in Texas by fighting the Ku Klux Klan in his home county of Williamson, sending five of them to the state penitentiary for flogging a man whom they claimed was too much of a shiek among the ladies.

Says Klan Supports Moody.

"Ma" and "Jim," they always are referred to thus, have claimed in the campaign that closed last night that Moody has the support of the klan. That and other charges and indictments are what have created so much interest in today's event.

There is so much interest that cities are vieing with each other today

Owner of Gas Station on Lisbon-Salem Road Opens Fire on Strangers, Who Flee.

FORD MACHINE IS ABANDONED

Sheriff Wright Hurries to Scene of Attempted Holdup But Secures no Trace of Culprits.

Charles H. Loop, 55, proprietor of a gas filling station at McCracken's corner on the Lisbon-Salem road, was held up and assaulted about 11 o'clock last night by three or four unmasked men who abandoned their car and made their escape.

Loop, who was cut below the right ear, was given medical treatment by Dr. C. F. Swift of Wellsville, who was hailed in a passing car. Later he was placed in charge of a physician who was summoned from Salem. His injuries are not serious.

Shoots At Strangers!

Sheriff George Wright, who reached the scene shortly after the hold-up notified police officials of Salem, Leetonia and other places of the robbery but up to noon today no trace had been found of the bandits.

The men, it is said, drove up to the filling station and one of them jumped out and asked for five gallons of gas and one a quart of oil. Loop had placed the gasoline in the tank and was about to pour the oil into the engine when the man struck him with a tool used in changing tires.

He was stunned by the blow but quickly recovering made a dash for his home nearby and securing his shot gun opened fire on the men, two of whom he struck with the oil can

APPEALED CASE OF WELLSVILLE POLICE CHIEF ENDS ABRUPTLY

Rebuttal Witnesses are Heard at Friday Afternoon Session.

TO FILE BRIEFS

Judge Spence Withholds Decision to Consider Evidence.

Appealed case of John H. Fultz, former Wellsville police chief, against the decision of the civil service commission, came to an abrupt conclusion yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock in common pleas court when Judge W. H. Spence announced from the bench, "This case is closed."

Attorneys have been given three days in which to file briefs, and after these have been submitted to the court, it will probably be several days before Judge Spence makes his decision.

Testimony for Fultz, both direct and cross examination, was resumed when court re-convened yesterday afternoon and shortly before 3 o'clock counsel of Fultz announced "This is our case."

Mayor Fogo Recalled.

Following a brief recess, prosecution counsel called several rebuttal witnesses, including Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Under the examination of Attorney Cochran, the witness was asked:

"You made statements or political promises during your campaign that you would remove Chief Fultz?"

"I never did, neither to Mrs. Heiney nor Mosby in regard to Fultz."

"To anybody?"

"No sir."

"If conditions were as you say they were, why didn't you give the warrants to Fultz?"

"He's already testified to that," came from Mr. Grosshans.

"I gave him the first warrant," the witness replied.

"About the second raid?"

"Next night he was sick."

"You stack the barrels along side of the city building to have the photograph taken?"

"Yes sir."

"You take any part in raids?" asked Mr. Grosshans.

"No."

"Is there any personal motive in your action in the removal of Fultz?" Attorney Cochran asked.

"That's not rebuttal," came from counsel for Fultz.

"I'll say no," the witness replied,

Polish Actress Speeds Eastward to Attend Funeral Services of Man to Whom She Was Engaged to Marry.

ON BOARD THE GOLDEN STATE LIMITED, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A shrine to the living, not a monument to the dead, is the pledge of love Pola Negri today made to the memory of Rudolph Valentino as she lay spent with grief in the narrow confines of her drawing room en route to view the body of the man she loved.

The final lap of her journey from Hollywood to New York finds the Polish movie star in a state of prostration. Constant application of ice bags to her head and above her heart is being resorted to by her nurse, Adeline Valencia, in the hope that the journey can be completed.

Every effort is being made to conserve her nervous energy, and her secretary, Miss Florence Hein, on the doctor's orders, is denying everybody admission to her room.

Today, for the first time, the span of silence imposed upon her by the physician's orders was broken when

AMERICAN IS SECOND WOMAN TO ACCOMPLISH SWIMMING FEAT

Covers Distance in 15 Hours and 28 Minutes.

BRITISHER FAILS

Gertrude Ederle's Time Still Stands as Record.

DOVER, England, Aug. 28. —Again woman has conquered the English channel.

Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, landed at Shakespeare Beach, Dover, this afternoon, and thus became the second woman in history to swim the English channel.

Reaches Shore at 3.

The plucky New York woman walked on to the English shore at 3 o'clock, having been in the water for 15 hours and 28 minutes.

Gertrude Ederle's record of 14 hours and 32 minutes still stands, but the New York woman, mother of two children, made a valiant attempt at lowering the record achieved by the sturdy New York girl.

Thus far the second time this summer, Englishmen have stood on their shores to see an American woman achieve that which only five men before them have achieved.

'Trudy' Congratulates Mrs. Corson In Her Swimming Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—"That's wonderful—I extend my heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Corson," said Gertrude Ederle when informed by International News Service that Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, mother of two children, had also swam the English channel.

"But," she added, with a smile, "I'm glad that I was the first woman to swim it."

Winning her victory against the turbid waters of the channel today Mrs. Corson not only brings new fame to American womanhood, but she also won what constituted a race against Great Britain, for Frank Perks of Birmingham, started from the French shores last night at approximately the same time as Mrs. Corson and followed in her wake all the way across the channel, but when the American woman was making her last courageous dash for the shore Perks found the battle too great and gave up.

Showed Disappointment.

Flushed with victory when she stepped on to the pebbly beach beneath the Shakespeare cliffs, just outside of Dover, Mrs. Corson was nevertheless just a little disappointed for she had hoped to lower the record of Gertrude Ederle.

The victory of Mrs. Corson was spectacular for during the last 300 yards she battled against a changing tide. The ebb tide began to set in just when the American woman was a quarter of a mile within the goal.

MILLER BREAKS OTHER RECORDS

Trans-continental Driver Reaches New York in 83 Hours.

Driving a Wills-Ste. Clair roadster from San Francisco to New York city, L. B. Miller, coast-to-coast auto driver, set a new transcontinental record of 83 hours and 12 minutes, according to word received here today by H. B. Barth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miller's time lowers the record established several weeks ago of 86 hours and 20 minutes, but he failed to attain the objective he had set for himself. It was Miller's aim to make the cross-country trip in 80 hours, but tire trouble in Wyoming, which cost him precious minutes, proved an obstacle he could not surmount.

He reached New York city early yesterday morning, passing through East Liverpool at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

INVESTIGATION INTO CAUSE OF FATAL AIR CRASH TO BE MADE

Rear Admiral Moffett Orders Quiz Into Circumstances of Accident Which Ended Fatally for Commander Rodgers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—While the entire navy mourned the loss of Commander John Rodgers, pioneer naval aviator, fatally injured at Philadelphia, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the air corps, today ordered a thorough investigation to clear up the mystery surrouning the crash.

Reports reaching the navy department releaved a confused picture of the fall of Commander Rodgers into the Delaware river with none of the spectators able to give a clear account of just how the airplane crumpled probably 75 feet in the air and dashed into the shallow water of the river.

With Commander Rodgers mechanic, aviation machinists' mats, Samuel Schultz, lying in a hospital with a broken back and his recovery doubtful, high officers of the navy feared that the true store of the crash might never be fully explained.

It was announced here today that Commander Rodgers' body will be taken from Philadelphia tonight to his parents' home in Havre De Grace, Md., and funeral services conducted there on Monday.

Tuesday afternoon the body will be brought to Arlington national cemetery for interment.

Diplomatic Victory Won Unexpectedly By Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Soviet Russia won an unexpected diplomatic success today.

Latvia and Esthonia notified the soviet that they are willing to negotiate separate mutual neutrality treaties with the Soviet.

Heretofore these Baltic nations have insisted that they could negotiate such pacts with Russia only in conjunction with Poland.

Russia regards the new move as an indication that the Baltic states are freeing themselves from Polish influences.

Fears that Poland would attempt to create a Baltic block and make war on Russia were lessened by today's developments.

GLITTER By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—V.

Sublime to ridiculous was exactly the distance from Yvonne's apartment to the University Club. There Jock found an uproarious trio, who greeted him with huzzahs and immediate earnest requests to "drink up."

"As soon as you acquire as elegant a bun as we've got," said Dopey Lane, "the expedition starts."

The expedition started at quarter of five. It may best be described as seven suitcases, two instrument-cases, three traveling bags, three bags of golf clubs, a steamer trunk, and four young gentlemen in sardine formation, all moving along in, on and about an equipage of an ilk not to be easily determined because there was little to be seen of itself except the wheels.

For a time the collective mentalities of the founr young gentlemen were bent upon the intricate business of getting out of New York. But once they were out, and on the open road, they relaxed and became themselves. They hooted. They sang. Bill Olmstead rode for some time astride the hood, playing his saxophone, so that they might sing the better. Wearying of this, he perched upon the roadster's door and led a whisting chorus which all voted delightful. "The Four Horsemen of the Puckered Lips," announced Pink Davis in a shout to spellbound spectators.

As they passed through towns they bared their heads and bowed to right and left graciously, like Presidential candidates. Whenever a pretty girl was sighted they did more; they stopped the car, rose to their feet, and emitted a solemn cheer with three long "Momma's!" on the end. Once they were halted by an irate motorcycle policeman, whom Pink soothed by slipping a flat brown bottle with a label interesting if true into his pocket.

"What did you do that for?" demanded Dopey as they drove away, waving back in a friendly fashion. "We could have talked him out of it, without shedding a pint of our heart's blood."

"Yes," said Jock, "and besides, some day you'll get into trouble that way, Pink. You've got to remember there are a few honest cops in the world. Suppose he had happened to be a prohibition enforcement officer or something—what then?"

"Nothing then," replied Pink calmly. "That bottle didn't have a thing in it but water."

The total casualties of the trip were one dog, one snake, and 14 chickens. Of these, only the snake received proper obsequies; he was removed from the dust and entwined in state about the motor-meter.

They had one accident. From a hidden road running perpendicular to the highway, a small tin automobile laden—nay, jammed — with humans, hopped out at them unexpectedly. There was a slight jarring sensation, and Dopey and Bill, gazing back with interest as they dashed around a curve, reported that the small tin automobile was reclining on its side against the bank—"And heads popping out like Jack-in-the-box, by gee!"

When the curve hid them safely from view they braked to a standstill and held consultation. Presently the occupants of the small tin automobile beheld four young men, pedestrians, coming toward them along the road. At sight of their predicament the pedesttrians broke into a run and approached them in great concern, crying, "What's happened? Was there an accident?"

"Somethin' hit us," replied the owner of the machine vaguely. He was a rat-like person, little and frightened-looking, and busily engaged in extricating himself from a seething tangle of arms and legs. He addressed these collectively. "Anybody hurt?" And then individually "Are you all right, Ma? Mary? All right, Joe? All right, Lucy? How're you, Junior? Where's Tom? All right, huh, well, who's got the baby? Baby all right?—"

"The father of his country," whispered Pink to Jock.

When all had been hauled forth and set upright on the road there was found to be nothing amiss except a bump on Junior's forehead and a hole in Mary's stocking, which she lamented as loudly as though she had lost her leg. Ma, a lady twice as big as her biggest child and probably three times as big as Pa, took up the burden of narrative. "We was just comin' along, easy as you please, an' Pa tooted his horn, you did toot your horn, didn't you Pa, he did, an' then first we knew, sudden-like, somethin' hit us and' pushed us into the ditch—"

"It was a otterbile!" shrieked Joe. "I seen it—it was a otterbile full of suitcases—"

The four young men were all compassion. "Do you mean to tell me " demanded the one with the rosy cheeks, "that a car hit you and pushed you into the ditch and didn't even stop? Why, that's an outrage! I tell you, maniacs like that ought not to be allowed to have carts, let alone drive them around the country that way, endangering in that reckless way the lives of innocent people!"

They assisted Pa to right the small tin automobile and saw it wheeze off unharmed, fluttering hands of divers sizes from all sides. "Now warn't they nice?" Ma was sighing gratefully. She would remember them for the rest of her life as a quartet of Good Samaritans.

About 7 o'clock, just as they neared a sizable city, hunger assailed them. "Shall we pay?" queried Pink, "or shall we not pay?"

"Not!" chorused the others vigorously.

Their ensuing conduct was a triumph in strategy. First they paused at a second-hand shop and purchased two more suitcases, dilapidated ones, for a pittance. These they packed with empty oil cans and filthy cotton waste begged from the garage where they stored the roadster, until tentative lifting convinced them that the proper degree of heaviness had been attained. Then Jock and Dopey Lane, each carrying one of these suitcases, approached the largest and best hotel of the town and demanded a room in the grand manner. Having registered under the names (but not the titles) of the science professor and the dean of their college, they were conducted to an excellent double room with bath on the second floor.

Scarcely had they concluded a pseudo battle as to which should be privileged to tip the bellboy—a battle staged for the bellboy's benefit and rendered somewhat anticlimactical by the tip itself, which proved to be a nickel on sight and a plugged nickel on his attempt to spend it two days later—when the room telephone jangled commandingly. Jock answered.

"What ho?"

"Two gentlemen calling, sir."

"Who are they? Get their names."

There was a longish interval. Then the room-clerk's voice said, "Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, sir."

"No! Say, that's fine—tell them to come right up, please—we'll be glad to see them."

Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, in the persons of Bill and Pink, appeared promptly. There ensued another telephone conversation, this time between Jock and Room Service, and having to do with "four of the best steak dinners you can toss together, served up here as soon as possible."

These were brought in good time, and the check signed by Jock with a flourish — "William Andrews, Room 239." "Have them charge it on my final bill," he said to the waiter.

An hour later, having dined riotously and to the point of actual physical discomfort, the foursome sauntered downstairs, leaving the suitcases and oilcans behind them in token of appreciation. "Want to show you around our town for an hour or so," Pink was saying as they passed the room-clerk's desk. "Best little town in the U. S. A.—"

They retrieved the roadster from the garage and proceeded onward rejoicing.

SPLENDID CAST IN NEW MOVIE

"Isle of Retribution" is Story of Frozen North.

Imagine a fortune-hunting society debutante and her snobbish mother, reared to be useless if ornamental fungi growing on the trunk of the social tree; imagine a spoiled, pampered son of a strong millionaire who made his money in the Northland wastes; imagine a beautiful, sincere and courageous girl who acts as secretary to the rich father; —and then imagine these people all cast away on a barren Alaskan island after their vessel has split on an ice-berg in the sullen nothern seas! Add to this the picture of a terrific brute, soured on the world by his experiences in the salt mines of Siberia and as infernally cruel as he is powerful, and you will have a few inadequate flashes of what you may expect from "The Isle of Retribution," which is playing its last engagements today at the Ceramic theatre. This rugged melodrama of the frozen wastlands is replete withm punch and as vivid as a Turner sunset. It has been splendidly directed by James Hogan, and a superlative cast is headed by Lillian Rich, with Robert Frazer, David Torrence, Victor M'Laglen, Mildred Harris, Kathleen Kirkham, Inez Gomez and others in support. The story is Fred Mynton's adaptation of the original novel by Edison Marshall.

AMERICAN HAS GOOD PICTURE

Corrine Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom" is Booked.

Since the organization of Corrine Griffith's own First National Pictures unit, E. M. Asher, general manager, has seen to it that the beautiful star has had a new leading man in each succeeding production. In "Classified" Miss Griffith's lead was Jack Mulhall, in "Infatuation," Malcolm MacGregor and Percy Marmont shared honors and in "Mlle. Modiste," Norman Kerry was the sweetheart of the fair Corrine.

Einar Hanson, celebrated Swedish film star, who made his American film debut recently, plays opposite Miss Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom," which Svend Gade directed and which starts an engagement at the American Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Hanson, who is anything but Scandinavian in appearance, is 23 years old. He came to America less than six months ago following a sensational performance in "Piazza del Popolo," made in Italy by the Scandinavian Film Co., and for which the Italian government honored him with a special medal of honor. For six years prior to taking up screen work Hanson was on the Swedish and Danish speaking stage. Hanson was starred by the Nordisk, Swedish and Oswald studios of Sweden and Norway and by the Sofar Company of Berlin before coming to Hollywood. He is the third Swedish screen star to gain immediate favor with American producers the past year—Greta Nissen and Greta Garbo being his predecessors.

In Miss Griffith's "Into the Kingdom" Hanson plays Stepan, an American born Russian bolshevist soldier who marries a Grand Duchess that he may give her a punishment worse than death and who, after returning to America with her, falls desperately in love with her.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

401. Did Jesus give "Himself a ransom for all?"

Answer: Yes. See 1 Timothy 2:5, 6.

402. What does it mean then, "I have found a ransom?"

Answer: I have found that Jesus gave Himself a ransom for me; and I believe in Him and accept Him as my Savior and Redeemer.

403. What is said about this matter in Hosea 13.16?

Answer: "I will ransom them (bring them back) from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death." Consequently the living ones, when the due time comes, will not have to go into death.

404. Besides being delivered from going into "the pit," the grave, what else will happen to those who find a ransom—find Jesus—in that day?

Answer: See Job. 33:24, 25.

405. If their flesh becomes "fresher than a child's and "they return to the days of their youth," would that be "restitution" for the living ones?

Answer: Yes; for life in its fullness is what was lost in Eden.

406. Are we near the time when some of the dead will be raised to life, and for that reason it will no longer be necessary for the living ones to die?

Answer: Yes; very near, for it is to begin when "Michael (Jesus) stands up" (Daniel 12:1, 2) takes His power and begins His reign. See Revelation 11:17, 18.

407. How do we know that this time is very near at hand?

Answer: Because we are in the midst of "the great time of trouble" (Daniel 12:1), and immediately following it shall "many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth awake." See Daniel 12:1- 2.

Where is the rational human being who has not often wished that things were different—who does not long for peace, happiness, freedom from pain and sorrow?

The divine plan for man's release from all causes of unhappiness is not only reasonable but genuinely heart-cheering.

PRISON GUARD IS RECOVERING

John Gilland, state prison guard who was stabbed three times Wednesday afternoon when attacked by Waverley Childers, negro life termer, is improving and will recover in good time barring improbable complications from pneumonia, according to a statement released from the Glendale hospital last night.

Gilland's condition was at first very serious and for a time was considered critical. After the wounds were dressed, however, the guard rallied and is thought to be recovering.

The condition of Childers, who has bullet wounds in the chest and left arm, is said to be not dangerous by prison physicians attending him at the prison hospital

Warden S. P. Smith stated yesterday that an investigation had satisfied him that there was no preconceived conspiracy against the guard. Jim Williams and Pete Ferguson having joined Childers in the attack merely through spontaneous sympathy.

SCHOOL COURSE NOT COMPLETED

Statistics Made Public By Member of State Board.

Facts and figures showing that boys and girls of West Virginia are not taking full advantage of what is offered them by the schools, were given to the Kanawha county teachers' institute, by Y. V. Cavins, director of investigations and statistics, for the state department of education.

In the entire state of West Virginia he said, there is just 16 per cent as many pupils in the ninth grade as there are in the first grade.

This means that if 100 pupils enter a first grade of school, by the time the class reaches the ninth grade, it has dwindled to 16 pupils. In other words, Mr. Cavins pointed out that the pupils leave school on their way through hte elementary classes for various reasons. In the country at large, Mr. Cavins said, an average of 30 per cent of the original attendance in the first grade is maintained in the ninth grade.

In 32 districts of the state, chosen at random, in the one, two and three-room schools, there are 13 per cent as many is the eighth grade as in the first grade; in the five largest cities in West Virginia the average is 52 per cent.

The cost, per elementary pupil in 50 independent districts, is $67.91; in the non-independent districts, the cost per pupil is $34.45.

The number of elementary pupils in all independent districts in the state is 57,158; in the total non-independent districts, the number of pupils is 296,006; in independent district high schools there are 15,724 pupils; in the non-independent district high schools, there are 16,700.

While in each instance the number of pupils, in both high and elementary schools in the non-independent districts is greater than in the independent districts, the number of supervisors and superintendents in the independent districts is greater by far than in the non-independent districts, the figure for the former being 557 against 132 superintendents and supervisors for the non-independent districts.

Mr. Cavin brought out many points to show the advantages held by the pupils in the independent districts where the wealth if greater, than in the non-independent districts.

Where the districts are poor, the tax rate is higher and the attendance less.

Now-the Modern Principles of European Design

are embodied in this New-Type Car

DRAMATIC changes have taken place in automobile standards of design. New engineering practices from Europe made the Overland Six instantly popular.

It is new all through . . . brilliantly engineered as a unit . . . not an old fashioned reconstructed chassis.

To outward appearances this car looks very much like conventional automobiles. Except that it is lower to the ground. And smartly European in appearance.

But hidden beneath the body are scores of vital engineering improvements that have practically revolutionized its performance standards . . . improved its riding qualities . . . cut operating costs to a minimum . . . and added immeasurably to its length of service.

You can drive it at an average speed of 40 to 55 miles an hour without excessive strain on the engine.

Its "high-torque" power plant has ample power to master the steepest hills. Gear shifting has been reduced to a minimum.

It has a low gravity center. An outstanding engineering feature due to these modern principles of design. This means greater safety at all speeds. It means protection against sideway and serious skidding.

And it means comfort such as you've never known before.

How we reduce upkeep expense

Because of new principles of design the operating cost of an Overland Six has been reduced to the very minimum.

Gasoline expense is exceedingly low. So is oil consumption.

And due to its greater operating efficiency, repair costs have been brought to a new low level.

Thousands of owners report remarkable mileage records, with amazing trouble-free performance.

Top place in resale value. You've probably heard of the National Used Car Blue Book. It's published for the guidance of automobile merchants everywhere . . . to help them in purchasing used cars wisely.

A recent issue of this book gives 1st, 2nd, 4th, and 5th places in used car values among the 1925 models of 17 different automobile companies, to Overland!

So you see that modern engineering counts in used car prices. It will mean a lot to you when it's time to trade-in your car.

See the Overland Six and find out about its modern engineering that means plus-value to you!

NOTE: 4-wheel brakes are furnished at slight extra cost.

Other models: Touring $895; Coupe, $895; DeLuxe Sedan, $1095.

Greece Revolves

Gen. Pangalos, president-dictator of Greece, laid plans to borrow money in America to bolster up the drachma and establish his regime solidly in power. Then he went for a vacation to a secluded little island in the Mediterranean. Whereupon Gen. Condylis, former war minister, staged a quick and bloodless revolution, put Pangalos in jail and set free the political prisoners languishing there.

Now, no doubt, Condylis will be asking for those loans.

He may get them, though not from the government. There may be private capitalists willing to risk their money in Greece for as low as 8 1-2 per cent, as the Swedish match monopoly had agreed to do, with permission to raise the price of matches for security. Or there may be gamblers willing to lend some political outfit in Athens the cash it needs for, say 10 per cent interest, with a liberal commission and a guarantee of such customs receipts as are not already hocked. But mostly, Americans will "lay off" that investment market until things settle down in Athens.

It may or may not be "just another dictatorship." The new boss at Athens promises "to establish popular liberty" and "to proceed in eight months at the latest to free elections in order to confide the power to the chosen representatives of the people." It would please mightily the greatest modern democracy—if that is what we are—to have real democracy restored in the country that first taught democracy to the world. That would command the Condylis regime to America, for moral support and financial support both, if anything would. But somehow modern Greece, at best, seems to show little aptitude for self-government.

Morals In Paris And Emporia

Writing from Paris, where he is snugly ensconced in a Latin Quarter studio, "Young Bill" White of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette sends home an interesting comment on Gallic and Saxon morals. He is speaking of the tolerant attitude in France regarding matters of personal morality:

"The Anglo-Saxon attitude is that if our laws governing such matters were repealed today, the entire population would at once fall into devilish and unspeakable ways, civilization would totter and the Y. M. C. A. would close for lack of business.

"If this is so, and I am in no mood to dispute it, the Frenchman is the most conscientious and upright being in the world. Without any laws to bolster up his conscience, or to compel him to do what the Bible says is right, the average citizen of Paris leads a life which is just a decent, upright and Christian in all respects as that of the average citizen of Emporia. The principal difference is that the Frenchman lacks stalwart, public-spirited interest in the irregular doings of geniuses and of mental defectives which is so highly developed in America."

It's an interesting way of looking at the matter, anyway, and one that may be good for the souls of some of us self-righteous folk at a time when, stung by French criticism of us, we're rather less given than usual to doing justice to the French nation.

A Hero Abroad

An American correspondent in Budapest writes that an American citizen named Smith, still in his middle forties, has done more to make America popular in Hungary than any one else in history. This citizen is Jeremiah Smith of Boston, who recently returned home after straightening out Hungary's tangled finances.

It is not Mr. Smith's financial service that commends him and his country to the Hungarians, so much as the way he conducted himself while handling the job.

When he arrived in Budapest a couple of years ago, a royal palace was placed at his disposal. As commissioner-general, the correspondent explains, "the Hungarian officials believed that he would put on a lot of dog.

"For two years he worked day and night on the almost hopeless financial proble. Not once did he make a public speech or issue a statement to the public prints. When he finished his job he closed his desk, handed over his accumulated salary to the local officials and took his departure. There was no blah about making the world safe for democracy or hands across the sea.

"And that is why the name of Smith is great in Budapest."

We can't all follow Jeremiah Smith's example, exactly. Yet some useful hints may be gained from it by a lot of Americans for use in their own dealings with Europe, whether for business or pleasure.

An Argentine sportsman who started to fly from New York to Buenos Ayres last May has just arrived. Why didn't he walk?

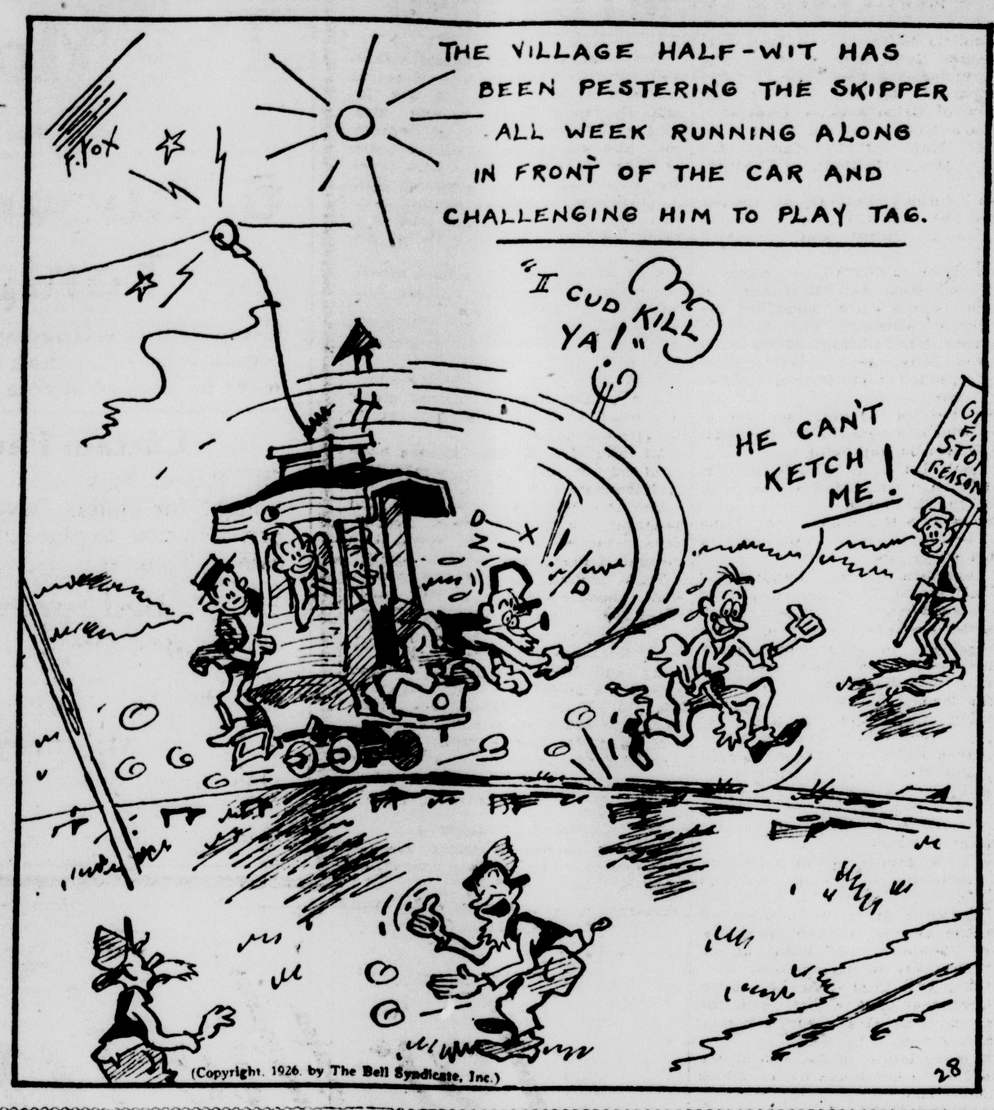

It's easy to see why all the motor car manufacturers are prospering, says a cynical person. Nearly everybody who has used any make of car wants to buy some other car.

It may be entertaining when your kid points a toy pistol and tells you to "stick 'em up." But that's the way some bandits begin.

A lot of automobile people seem to be feeling sorry just now for Henry Ford. Remeber when the bankers felt that way about him, and what happened?

Another suggestion for war debt settlements: Let the debtors pay us just enough to buy up all the armament in the world, and then scrap it.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—I am sitting on the veranda of a country home not far from Gotham. It is owned by a man who with 23 years of drudgery has bought the right to rest. The faint refrain of Victor Herbert's "Indian Summer" floats through a half opened window.

Over the knob of a hill a group of golfers are swinging along. There are shouts from a tennis court. A graceful Borzoi dog is cocking his head quizzically at something in the hedge. It is all the atmosphere of leisure—the world of white flannels, buckskin shoes and low-slung roadsters.

The host knows much of life. He has hard-panned in the Yukon. He spent two futile years in far off Benares trying to establish a mill. He has been a logger in the north. He topped nine distinct failures with one whopping success.

Now he is trying to live. I did not know him in other days, but am told he was the life of hell-roaring camps. He was reckless at the gaming tables and succumbed to other primitive urges of his surroundings.

Today he seems subdued. He appears always straining to catch some faint rumbling of life he cannot hear. He does not strike one as particularly happy or particularly sad, but I get the idea he is not overwhelmed by the elation of success.

Observing such men interests me because they have achieved the goal toward which most of us are striving. I notice he likes very young people about him. The irresponsibilities of youth evidently stir some romantic longings.

This morning one of his young guests called out "So long, see you this evening" and raced off for a train to town. The host stood puckering his lips indecisively and watched him out of sigh. I somehow imagined he would like to be racing off to an office too.

It stirred my curiosity in the window of one of those novelty shops. A tiny slightly curved comb about a half thumb long. It seemed a little too small even for those whimsical slight mustaches and not large enough for the silken fluff of a sleeve dog. So I inquired of Monsieur—the proprietor. It was a comb for the eyebrows.

The thing Job feared came upon him. A physician who has attended many songbirds of the Metropolitan and similar operatic ventures says in all such practise the only ailments are those of the throat. He has known cases of fear to so restrict muscles of the throat that a singer could not be heard in a whisper. Fifteen minutes before, the throat was normal.

Similarly about the only affliction of the ball player is the "charley horse" and a waiter sunken arches. The subject offers some fascinating study for I seem to remember that writers—who need their eyes more than most people—lead in opthalmic ailments.

Near sightedness furnished some of the world's best humor. I still think one of the most amusing lines in my time was when the city girl came out to the farm and inquired of her grandmother where her grandfather was. The old lady scanned the acres and replied, "our grandpap is in the barnyard with the mules. I can tell him by his hat."

And speaking of mules and being brought up with them, so to speak in Missouri, I have never seen one in New York, save a trick one at the Hippodrome a number of years ago.

New Bankruptcy Law.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28. — Thanks to new general orders of the United States supreme court and to legislation enacted at the last session of congress the possibility of fraud through bankruptcy proceedings has been greatly minimized. The court orders were issued more than a year ago, but the amendments to the federal bankruptcy act were not passed by congress until last May. The bill, which was signed by President Coolidge on May 27, provided that the amendments should become effective three months after the president's approval of the legislation.

Just what the changes made in the law are expected to accomplish in the way of greater protection to business men from losses caused by dishonest bankruptcies is described in detail in a statement issued by the American Institute of Accountants for the information not only of accountants, but of the business public as well.

The accounts point out that the problem with which congress and business men were confronted was that of continuing in force the humane provisions of the bankruptcy law and at both debtors and creditors.

The need of a bankruptcy law is the same time safeguarding creditors from losses due to abuses of the bankruptcy system. Every effort was made, in drafting the amendments, to conserve the interests of universally recognized in view of the large number of business undertakings that fail because of unavoidable hazards, according to the accountants. However, business men rebelled against the misuse of the law by business crooks who, under the cloak of a statute intended to protect the unfortunate, have succeeded in stealing increasingly large sums by carefully planned fraudulent bankrupticies, and by the concealment of assets. These business criminals brought even the law itself into disrepute.

Business men were faced by the necessity of strengthening the law so as to put a stop to its misuse. They felt that if conditions were not bettered the bankruptcy law would be reepaled, and the county again thrown into those chaotic conditions that prevailed under state insolvency laws when there was no national act.

Three Laws Repealed.

There have been four national bankruptcy laws in the United States, the years of their enactment being 1800, 1841, 1867, and 1898. The first three laws were repealed after short trials, principally because of their abuse by the unscrupulous. The fourth law has stood, and until this year has been amended in minor respects only.

This law, however, because of its weaknesses made it possible for business crooks to fleece honest business men. And because it was lacking in its criminal provsiions, many flagrant violators have not been prosecuted, according to the accountants, who in common with the bankers, credit men, attorneys and business men, made studies of bankruptcy conditions extending over several years.

Complaints against the old law petitions in bankruptcy, filed by friendly or fictitious creditors at the request of or on behalf of the debtor; that it did not prevent fraudulent compositions, by which some creditors were preferred over others; that it permitted easy discharges from bankruptcy regardless of flagrant violations of the bankruptcy act; that its criminal provosions were not adequate and there was a lack of prosecution; that there were unwarranted delays in settling estates; and that in many cases the costs of administration were excessive.

It is declared by those interested that nearly all if not all of these defects are corrected by the amendments to the law, and by the new general orders in bankruptcy promulgated by the supreme court.

The new amendments add new acts of bankruptcy and strengthen the definitions of present acts of bankruptcy. They make discharges more difficult for dishonest bankrupts to obtain, and they limit discharges to one in six years, whether voluntary or involuntary. If a bankrupt can be shown to have mutilated, falsified, or concealed any book or record, regardless of the intent of the act, a discharge may be refused, and false financial statements or failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for refusing a discharge. Also the burden is placed upon the bankrupt of proving that he has not committed any of the acts which would act as an obstacle to his discharge if objects are able to show the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing the bankrupt has committed such acts.

Punishment Is Increased.

The new law likewise increases from two to five years the possible term of imprisonment for various offenses against the bankruptcy act, in-

My Favorite Stories

THE WAIL OF A SUFFERING SOUL.

Once upon a time there was presented in a New York theatre a historical drama by a new dramatist—a play so bad that even the critics didn't have the heart next morning to tell the whole truth about it. At the end of the third act, when the suffering audience was writhing in their seats, a stout man who had been patronizing a bootlegger began to utter loud cries. A number of kindly disposed persons took up the chorus and in another minute the misguided playwright had responded to what he thought was a curtain call and was standing before the footlights bowing his appreciation and numbling inarticulate words of thanks.

When the author had withdrawn himself the stout man's companion turned to him angrily.

"What in the world did you mean," demanded the friend, "yelling for 'Author! Author!' like that?"

"I wasn't yelling for him," answered the fat man with much indignation. "I was yelling for ether!"

a completely cushioned engine

rubber heels for the Buick engine

The Buick Valve-in-Head engine now has "rubber heels".

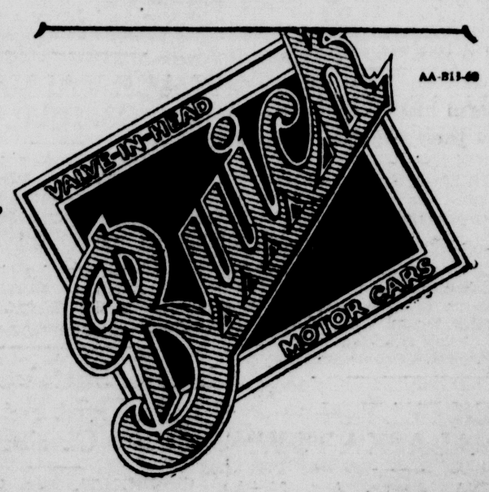

Here is an engine completely insulated and isolated from all metallic contact with its chassis. Thick rubber cushions, fore and aft, absorb noise, and save the engine from road shocks and strains.

Never, in 22 successful years of motor car manufacture has Buick produced a car so far ahead of its field as the 1927 Buick.

Money can buy no finer performance, no matter how much you are willing to spend.

CONVICTS RIOT AND ESCAPE

Guards in Michigan Penitentiary are Overpowered.

IONIA, Mich., Aug. 28.—Twenty-five convicts escaped from the Ionia reformatory after they had overpowered eight guards during a riot there early today.

Three fleeing cars were sighted by Dearborn officials three hours after the escape. The Dearborn officers gave chase but the bandits rear car threw up a huge smoke screen which enabled the bandits to escape on their way to Detroit.

Six of the escaped prisoners are armed with revolvers taken from the guards. Four of them are wearing guards' clothes.

Between 500 and 600 men were at liberty when the 25 escaped. The others were shut off from freedom by Deputy Wardens Edward Haight and Frank Leland, aided by guards on the outside walls. The deputies fired several times and quelled the riot without injuring any one.

Toledo Man Held For Murder After Fight in Cellar

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 28.—James Ballinger was held by police today on a murder charge growing out of a fight in which Martin Lutonski, 45, was stabbed to death and Ballinger's brother, Claude, 24, received probably fatal wounds.

The fight resulted from a quarrel over payment for beer the trio had been drinking in a cellar, police declared. James Ballinger, according to the police, stated Lutonski became quarrelsome and grabbed an axe and that he and his brother struck back in self-defense.

FIRE MENACES FAIR GROUNDS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Believing the fire that threatened to destroy scenery at the fair grounds early today was of incendiary origin, State Director of Agriculture C. V. Truax, appealed to the fire marshal's office for an investigation.

Several deputy marshals left at once for the grounds to begin a probe. The building where the fire occurred was locked. A window was found broken. The loss was $100.

WOMAN DIES FROM SCALDS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Burns received when she fell in a bathtub filled with boiling water, resulted in the death here today of Mrs. Laura Anders, 27.

Mrs. Anders was cleaning a window in the bathroom of her home. She was alone at the time and she lay in the water for an hour. She died soon after being admitted to new McKinley hospital.

SHOCK FELT IN ALASKA TOWN

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 28.—A strong earthquake shock was registered here early today in the naval radio station. The tremor was not sufficiently strong to do any damage, however. A lesser earth tremor was felt at 10 o'clock last night.

The first tremor passed almost unnoticed, but the second shock was sharp enough to alarm many persons who were awakened from their sleep.

REVENUE TAXES SHOW INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Internal revenue taxes for the first six months of 1926 were almost 50 per cent higher than for the first six months of 1925, the treasury announced today—affording an index as to the country's prosperity.

The total federal taxes of all kinds, including income, for the first six months of 1926 were $104,369,000 a decrease of about $21,000,000 from the corresponding period in 1925.

WITNESSES FEAR FOR THEIR LIVES

Stark County Grand Jury Continues Murder Probe.

CANTON, O., Aug. 28.—Fear that retaliatory bullets, loosened by those now under fire in the Don R. Mellett murder, will bark out sudden death to them, has caused many vital witnesses to attempt to evade appearing before the Stark county grand jury investigating the crime and has prompted others to leave the city, it was learned here today.

One witness who has offered testimony highly valued by the investigators, was caught by detectives about 50 miles from here in the admitted act of "fleeing for safety," investigators admitted.

While authorities would not admit it, it could not be learned whether the actual disappearance of any witnesses caused the recessing of the grand jury last night. The jury is to remain recessed until Monday.

One of the officials declared today that the murder was so closely linked with alleged practices of bribery, vice protection and bootlegging that the transcript of testimony presented to the jury in the murder case might be turned over to another county grand jury or a federal jury, as a basis for other indictments.

RAIL WORKERS TO AID MINERS

U. S. Labor Union Vote Help for English Strikers.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—England's 3,000,000 striking miners and unemployed will receive financial aid from 21 railway labor organizations of the United States, according to Ben Tillett, British labor leader and former member of parliament, on a visit here to confer with railway brotherhood officials.

The American labor organizations decided to extend financial support to the British miners at a recent meeting at Washington, Tillett declared.

A. Johnston, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announced that members of the Associated Railroad Labor organizations had been urged by their officers to aid the British.

Leaves Race Track Gambling up to Local Authorities

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe today gave the first intimation that he had decided to leave the enforcement of Ohio laws prohibiting gambling at race tracks up to local authorities.

In view of the fact that tracks now operating or going to be operated are owned or controlled by individuals or partnerships, Crabbe said, he feels local authorities should take care of the situation.

NIGHTWATCHMAN HELD FOR MURDER

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—Following the death of Samuel Levey, buyer for a downtown department store, last night, a formal charge of murder was placed today against John P. Benson, 54, night watchman, who previously had been charged with shooting with intent to kill.

decks. His religion is that of repentence—our religion is prosperity. But, as the original Socrates might have said, only Providence knows which of us has the better religion.

AT Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McDonald said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could; cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye," and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't.

THE judges refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow.

Millions in Ireland and other countries will say that the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligence as regards three-quarters of the sixteen hundred million human beings on earth.

Two East Liverpool Young People Get Ohio State Degrees

Among candidates for degrees and diplomas awarded yesterday at the summer convocation of Ohio State University, Columbus, were two East Liverpool men.

Cecil M. Ward received a master of arts degree and Clifford E. Wolf a degree in education.

Seeks Passage of Amendment to Primary Statutes

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—In view of the fact that the state legislature technically is still in session, having only "recessed" when it broke up, Gov. Donahey is powerless to appoint a special committee of three to hear arguments and explanations on the passage of the proposed anti-primary amendment as requested by A. C. McDonald, mayor of Dayton, according to James Huffman, executive secretary to the governor, today.

THREE KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

GARY, Ind., Aug. 28.—Three young members of socially prominent Gary families were killed when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central railroad train at a grade crossing here today.

The victims:

Robert H. Webster, 22; Miss Hazel Lagrow, and Miss Elizabeth Betts.

Appealed Case

"only I thought it would be for the best interest of Wellsville."

While Acting Chief Newton was working for the Catlett Furniture store, Mayor Fogo testified that the former located stills when delivering furniture, two of them being in empty houses and one in a private residence.

"Newton gave you the information?" asked the court.

"Hurd got two."

Court Quizzes Witness.

"As mayor you learned about these stills and gambling through others?" came from the court.

"No, from Hurd. Officers got the information.

"Now do you know of any still that was reported to Fultz that he did not get?"

"No."

"Why do you make the charge against Fultz for drinking after you learned that Newton did more drinking than Fultz, and still keep Newton. You made the complaint, now I want to know something about your motive and acts," the court queried.

"I didn't know Newton drank until the hearing."

"You treat him as chief of police since you learned of his drinking?

"He draws his salary as a patrolman."

"You still recognize him as chief, and you still keep him. You have made a great many charges against the chief, you haven't been able to prove, haven't you?" asked the court.

"Sure."

"The evidence in this case has closed," the court remarked with Mr. Fogo still sitting in the witness stand.

Property Records Not Considered.

The effort of counsel for Mr. Fogo to read into the record the realty holdings of Fultz was stopped by the court, to which his counsel took exceptions.

"That doesn't mean anything," the court said "I have in mind a man who has title to $75,000 worth of property and he isn't worth a cent. The personal affairs of Fultz will be ruled out."

The defense closed its case at 2:45 o'clock.

John Floto, former safety director in Wellsville, was the first witness called in rebuttal and was examined by Mr. Crawford. He declared that conditions in Wellsville now were about the same as before.

"Violations?"

"I say there are."

"Know of violation for gambling?" the witness was asked.

"They arrested men for gambling."

"Yes."

R. L. McLean, a Broadway grocer in Wellsville and a councilman-at-large, testified he saw drunks on the street in 1925 and that liquor was also sold in Wellsville in 1925.

"You know places where they sold liquor in 1925?" he was asked.

"I won't answer that," McLean said.

"Why?"

The witness did not respond and the court excused him from the stand.

Charles S. Peters, an oil operator, testified under-rebuttal that he had not paid particular attention to violations and thought the town was a bit better now than in 1925.

"You said you paid no attention. If you know anything tell it," put in the court.

"I don't."

"That's all," counsel remarked.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—All of the department of the stock market which have shown unusual buoyancy in the last few days, made further progress in the short session of the market today. The railroad stocks moved into a higher level of prices in the first period and were fairly active near the peaks. Rubber and tire stocks, baking stocks and a few of the motor shares completed the active list, the balance of the market being dull and featureless.

The week-end business surveys pointed out that the August records in most lines of business were unusually favorable, while indications were for an active fall and winter season. Emphasis was placed on the heavy volume of freight traffic, the surest indication of a huge business in the country as a whole.

Atchison, New York Central and other well-known railroad stocks led a new forward movement in that section of the market, Atchison exceeding all of its former records when it sold around 152. The railroad equipment stocks also made good progress under the leadership of Pullman and Baldwin, while specialties were inclined to sag under profit taking.

The departure of Mr. Durant on a European trip was without incident in the speculative district, Mr. Durant making it plain that he was still interested in the broad movements of stock prices, though not concerned with the day to day movements.

General Motors and U. S. Steel sold up about a point in fairly active trading, which was featured principally by the absence of professional selling pressure. Oils were not disposed to follow up the moderate gains made near the close of Friday's session. Continental Baking A and B stocks reached new high levels since their listing on the big board and General Asphalt gained 3 points in a fairly large turnover.

The week end commodity and futures markets were steady with prices practically unchanged. Tire, textile and metals markets were reported on the upgrade.

RUM RUNNERS ARE CAPTURED

Speed Boat Overtaken After Exciting Chase.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first of the speed boats being used by rum runners between Long Point, Canada, and Erie to be caught was captured today by Captain Coppin, of the rum chaser CG-142, just off the New York state line after thirty-five rounds of shot had been fired into it.

The captured boat is of the Seabright type and is capable of doing forty miles per hour. The crew of the rum runner, it is said, threw from 50 to 75 cases of Canadian ale into the lake while Coppin was overhauling the craft, but when the boat was brought into the coast guard station here at daylight, a hasty inventory showed she still contained about 150 cases of contraband liquor.

Conquers Channel

She put on a final spurt but when 300 yards from shore it became evident that the tide had definitely turned against her. There was a dramatic moment when those ashore pondered—would she give up or would she spend her last strength in fighting these tides which have defeated so many before her? The American mother chose to fight, and fight she did.

Battled Against Tide.

With determination written on her face she increased her stroke and surged ahead against the tides, only to be swept back almost as fast as she swam. There were moments of high suspense and those on short set up a great cheer to fight her on. Inch by inch Mrs. Corson won her battle against the tides when within a hundred yards of shore her victory was still far from won. On and on she fought, with the out-going tide ever sweeping against her. Eventually her will and brain carried her forward in a great final effort and she made the shore—the victor of one of the most heroic battles against the channel this coast has ever seen.

During her final fight to win the shore Mrs. Corson demonstrated remarkable genius, for she had to resort to careful strategy to win out at the end of her long battle.

Time and again she zig-zagged her course, as she struggled against the terrific outward pull of the tide. It was as much her good strategy as her amazing strength that finally brought her to the shores.

Remarkable Feat.

There can be no quibbling over the achievement of this woman, trainers said, as she came ashore, for they pointed out that at no time during her swim was she ever under any sort of protection. She swam with only a motor-boat accompanying her and at all times this boat was kept clear of the swimmer. She took the channel as she found it and she conquered it.

This was Mrs. Corson's second attempt at the channel. In 1923 it defeated her, but she came this year determined to win and she did.

Mrs. Corson demonstrated her superiority over Perks, the male swim-give up. Mrs. Corson met the tide Perks caught the outgoing tide a mile or more from the shore and had to give up. Mrs. Corson met thhe tide a quarter of a mile from shore and fought it and won, though every stroke she made during the last half hour was a struggle.

Holds Other Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemeton Corson, of New York, who swam the English channel today is 27 years old and the mother of two children.

Before her marriage to an American she was Ame Na Gade, a Dane.

Mrs. Corson first came before the public in 1921, when she made the circuit of Manhattan island in 7 hours and fifty-seven minutes. Later she swam from Albany to New York in 63 hours, 35 minutes actual swimming time. The distance is 153 miles.

One previous attempt to swim the English Channel has been made by Mrs. Corson in 1923. She started from the English side, and got within two miles of the French coast in fourteen and a half hours, when she was forced to give up by rough weather.

Her last long swim was from Dover to Ramsgate, which she accomplished in six hours and twenty minutes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemington Corson, who today, negotiated the English channel from Cape Griz Nez to Shakespeare Cliffs, the second woman of all time to perform the feat, was born Millie Gade, in the town of Viello, near Copenhagen, Denmark.

"I used to swim in the harbor," she once said. "When I was still very young. Five miles was the limit at first, but as I grew older I extended it to fifteen, and then twenty. The water was very cold, and it was this training which prepared me so that I did not mind the chill channel waters.

"After my first child was born I feared motherhood had taken my strength, but instead I found that motherhood had given me more endurance. It really makes a woman stronger to have children."

Millie's children are Clem, 4, and Marjorie, 2 1-2. Both children swim well, and their mother is very proud of their ability.

She came to New York in 1919, and in 1921 married Clemington Corson, assistant superintendent of the U. S. S. Illinois which is used by the naval militia as a floating armory.

Expect Record Vote

as to which will prove to be the most "progressive" in getting out the vote. And to get out the vote, every novelty that could be thought up is being put to use. Beginning at 7 o'clock when the polls opened this morning, whistles in all parts of the larger cities began to scream, calling attention to the business of the day. Not to be outdone, the towns of the state resounded with the peal of church bells and other noise makers. The warning was sounded every half hour, and with some starting later than others, there was an unceasing bedlam in many cities.

Newspapers of the state have predicted a heavy vote today, in spite of the general rain yesterday. Estimates of the probable count ranged form 650,000 to 800,000. The latter was approximate at the first primary, July 24, when Moody lacked only 2,000 votes of having a majority over a field of five candidates, Mrs. Ferguson was runner up and under Texas election laws, the second or run-off primary shall decide between the two leading candidates, if the leader does not obtain a majority in the first.

Nomination Means Election.

Nomination at the run-off virtually means election in the thoroughly Democratic state of Texas.

Before the first primary, 'Ma" Ferguson challenged Moody to a wager that if he beat her by one vote, she immediately would resign if the attorney general would resign if she beat him by 25,000. 'Ma" failed to resign and failed to withdraw from the race, claiming that Moody did not accept the challenge. Moody claimed he did accept the challenge and 'Ma" retaliated with a charge that Moody had polled the large vote frauduently, at an unfair and dishonest election.

Pola Tells of Romance

she told the story of her romance with Valentino.

"Mr. Valentino proposed to me after he returned from Paris, a free man. There was only one thought in our minds. We looked forward to the time when we could be bound together for eternity," she dictated to Miss Hein in answer to the question of when and where he had proposed to her. "I met him for the first time almost a year ago a ball masque given Miss Marion Davies."

cluding the concealment of asets, and adds several new punishable offenses. Among the latter are the destruction or concealment of records, the concealment of property by officer or agent of bankrupt, the concealment of property from receiver as well as from trustees, and the withholding of records from receiver or trustee. The period of time within which prosecution of offenses may be instituted is extended from one to three years.

Referees must report to United States district attorneys all violations of the bankruptcy act which come to their attention; provision is made for the payment of the expenses of creditors who successfully oppose confirmation of compositions; delays in adjudications and settlements of estates caused by the offering of settlements in compositions are prohibited; communications between creditors, and between creditors and referees and trustees, are made privileged and not subjected to action for slander or libel, if made in good faith; the time limit for proving claims is reduced from one year to six months after adjudication; and priority is given to the payment of wages over the payment of taxes, for the first time in bankruptcy legislation.

The new general orders in bankruptcy issued by the United States supreme court are intended, it is explained, to prevent the assignment of claims by creditors to other creditors or to attorneys except for a real consideration; the solicitation on claims by receivers or their attorneys; the incurring of excessive fees for receivers; private agreements relative to compositions in which some creditors have waised participation; excessive fees of attorneys and trustees and the "splitting" of fees; the granting of allowances from estates without notice to creditors; the payment of attorney's fees in cases in which collusion appears; the multiplicity of cousel; the employment by receivers or trustees of attorneys employed by or connected with the bankrupt; and indeterminate fees for auctioneers, accountants and appraisers.

In addition to the modifications of the bankruptcy law and the new court procedure which will tend to make it hard for the dishonest bankrupt, the National Association of Credit Men is camping on his trail. That organization has created a protective fund of $1,500,000 for the investigation of alleged credit and bankruptcy frauds and for the prosecution of offenders.

Faulty Brakes built this monument

So many drivers met with disaster on a long, steep hill near Pottsville, Pa., that the authorities erected this monument as a warning.

Don't take chances with the brakes. Hospitals are filled with people who do. Cheap brake lining will "burn out" on a steep grade; lining not correctly applied is apt to fail at any minute. The brakes on your car deserve attention. They are your one factor of safety.

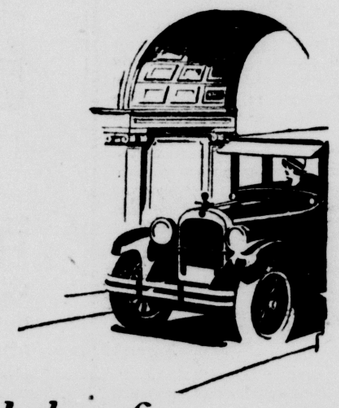

Our specialized brake knowledge, plus modern brake practice gives to you a brake service that may save life, accident and expense. We use genuine Silver Edge Raybestos and apply it by the Raybestos Method which means that you will be safe on sharp grades, long hills and in crowded traffic.

BIG SPECTACLE AT STATE FAIR

'The Wonderer' Musical Play to be Given Nightly.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Final rehearsals for "The Wonderer," the musical extravaganza to be staged nightly during State Fair Week, starting next Monday, have been in progress under the supervision of Chas. V. Truax, director of agriculture. It is arrested that this spectacle will be the most elaborate outdoor production ever staged in this country.

A cast of 2,000 people will have part in the production, which will be staged from the oval facing the racetrack grand stands. Here 12,000 seats will be made available.

"The Wonderer" is an allegorical story of the rise of mankind, and carries the picture by music and action from the Creation through the various periods of civilization to the present time and then projects man into a period 50 years hence. The story is supported by elaborate lighting effects, a chorus of 350 voices and a band of 150 pieces which will carry the orchestration for the spectacle.

This feature of State Fair, according to officials, will be quite the outstanding entertainment event of the week. The various episodes have been in rehearsal for several weeks and the work of preparing the enormous stages and incidental equipment is just now being rushed to completion.

Under the supervision of Director Truax, the staging and costume designing is being executed by the Emilie Sullivan studios; stage settings are in charge of H. L. Sherman, assistant instructor in the Fine Arts Department of Ohio State University; ballets are being directed by Jorg Fasting; the chorus is under the direction of Karl Hoenig; the band instrumentation is being managed by J. W. Wainwright of Fostoria, and the stage manager is George H. Hoskyn, of Chicago.

"BIG PARADE" HAS NUMEROUS STARS

Going back as far as the famed "Tillie's Punctured Romance," there has never been a picture which created so many stars as "The Big Parade" the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which a road show company will put on view at the Ceramic theatre for three days starting Thursday, Sept. 23.

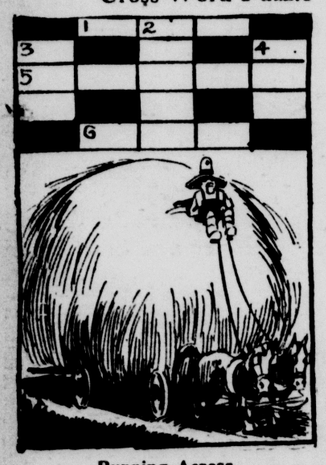

The people who reached the zenith of recognition with the appearance of "The Big Parade" include King Vidor revealed at last as a master director; John Gilbert, long popular but made famous by his work in this picture; Renee Adoree who hit home for the first time as the heroine; Karl Dane never will be forgotten as the champion spitter of the Army; Tom O'Brien and Clair McDowell. "The Big Parade" has gained a new public for motion pictures as there have been thousands of people who viewed it who were not picture fans but immediately recognized the great advance that has been made in that form of entertainments and now go regularly to the films.

Australia now has 110,000 licensed radio sets.

One Big Difference In Car Values

The Home of Friendly Service

ONE of the big outstanding differences in car values today is in the measure of local responsibility delivered to the owner with the car.

All cars show changes and improvements from time to time, but as heretofore, the basis of satisfaction in automobile ownership lies in the responsibility of the local dealer for the car he sells.

The recognized merit of the Stutz and Peerless lines have made it a pleasure rather than a task for us to assume that responsibility here in East Liverpool.

Turk-Nash And Victory Motors Clash To 3-3 Tie At Klondyke

Pollock Tries Steal In Sixth To Win But Is Caught At Plate

Pitcher Makes Brilliant Attempt to Purloin Run And is Nabbed by Inches; First Frame Puts Mundy Outfit in Running.

VICTORY Motor and Turk-Nash, clashing on the former's field at Klondyke, battled to a standoff in a fast City Industrial league game last evening, each team scoring three runs during the six innings of play, Umpire Dave Lindsay calling the clash on account of darkness.

Turk-Nash started with a rush, making one run in the first which was overcome by three that the Motors made in the same period. The latter held the lead until the sixth, when, following a run procured in the third, Turk-Nash scored another and evened the count.

The count was 3-2 when Turk-Nash went to bat in the final frame. D. Morgan, first up, dropped a high fly too far back for J. Strobel and too far away for Sainor to land. E. Mundy went out, V. Bailey to S. Coleman, putting Morgan on second. J. Watson held him there as he flew to J. Strobel. Then, with two strikes on him, R. Pollock poled the ball into deep left, where it was momentarily lost, scoring Morgan and evening the count. A few seconds later Pollock, with Eddie Bayley at the bat, tore down the home plate path. He all but made the circuit, but Robinson tabbed him for the third out.

The play was a daring move on the part of Pollock and came within inches of being successful.

Motors Score Three.

Turk-Nash proceeded to keep the game a tie from that point on, Victory Motors going out in order in their half of the sixth. Sainor flew to Talbott and Robinson and H. Strobel were retired at first.

Bunching of two hits with an error and a pass, together with the failure to complete a double play in the first inning cost Turk-Nash three runs. Thereafter Pollock blanked his opponents in order, except in the fifth when Baker opened with a single over second. Eight men batted against him in the first frame, but only 18 in the last five. Barring a couple of miscues in the first by Morgan, he was given faultless support. Incidentally he drove in the tying run.

The youthful Baker occupied the hilltop for Victory Motor, and he gamely southpawed his way through the contest. He allowed nine hits, but kept them well scattered and tightened effectively in the pinches. J. Strobel accepted seven of eight chances and V. Bailey five in the almost perfect support accorded him. J. Strobel retired the side by a fine catch off E. Bayley's bat in the second, H. Strobel doing likewise in the third off D. Morgan and V. Bailey repeating the act in the fifth by running into the crowd and grabbing a foul.

Despite his bad start Morgan made four hard stops in later stages of the engagement.

Club Standing Unchanged.

Eddie Bayley, gobbling up five chances at second, performed brilliantly. First Baseman Talbott led both clubs with the stick, getting a double and single in two times up.

Because of the tie the standing of the clubs remains unchanged because the Wellsville diamond was not in condition for the scheduled game with Chester, as a result of Saturday's heavy rains.

E. Bayley doubled to left in the first. Alcock singled through short. A. Bayley drove to C. Coleman, who relayed to Robinson and he to V. Bailey, who tabbed him out. Schneidmiller sent a hard fly to C. Strobel on which Alcock reached third from where he counted on McConnell's single to left. The latter, however was caught stretching the blow into a double, H. Strobel to J. Strobel.

D. Morgan booted J. Strobel's drive in the second half of the first. S. Coleman, after repeated fouls, singled to left. C. Coleman flew to J. Watson. Sainor walked, filling the bases. Robinson singled to left, scoring J. Strobel and S. Coleman. H. Strobel drove to E. Bayley, who started a potential double play by assisting to J. Watson, who stepped on second, retiring Robinson, but his throw to Alcock to nip the left gardener was low, enabling him to reach first safely as Sainor crossed the plate. V. Bailey was safe also on D. Morgan's error, but C. Strobel went out, R. Pollock to Alcock.

Talbott, doubling to deep middle in the third scored on A. Bayley's double to middle. The latter was forced by Schneidmiller, J. Strobel to V. Bailey. McConnell and D. Morgan flew to Sainor and H. Strobel respectively.

Single G Will Race Exhibition Mile At Canfield Fair Sept. 4

Performance of Famous Old Turf Warrior to Feature Annual Track Meeting.

SINGLE G., greatest pacer of all time, equine hero of countless battles that have provided thrills galore for turfdom's great horde of esthusiasts, will give eastern Ohio fans some of the sensations that have been absorbed by the harness racing world during the past 16 years, when he sets his hoofs upon the Canfield Fair track on Saturday, September 4 in an exhibition mile pace against time.

The fame of Single G is not local by any means. He is almost a national institution and Columbiana county doubtless will contribute its quota of track fans to the general gathering when he appears at Canfield.

The exhibition has been arranged through the efforts of L. B. McKelvey, chairman of the Canfield race committee, who arranged with W. G. Barefoot, owner of the famous campaigner, for the Single G's appearance at the fair as a feature of the biggest two days' of racing ever arranged for the annual exhibit.

The veteran pacer made his debut at North Randall Monday and although he was nosed out by the younger generation of fleet footed racing gentry the gallant old warrior showed that he had not lost a great deal of the speed that has kept him in the public eye for years.

The largest crowd that ever attended a race meet at Canfield is expected as the result of the booking of Single G.

GOLDEN HARVEST MOON BEAMS FOR TRUDY

JACK POLISHES UP ON DEFENSE

Decides He Needs it After Friday's Work-out.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey arrived at the conclusion today that what he really needs is a lot more of this defensive practice. The thought came after mulling over what happened to him Friday when he told the boys:

"Don't be afraid of me today. Tear in and let go. I won't sock you hard. I want to see how good I am at blocking your punches or in getting away from them."

On this particular day and date, Dempsey's memory refreshes him on the point that he wasn't much good at it at all. Six sparring partners took shots at his chin and his body and six sparring partners hit with almost everything they tossed in his general direction.

"And so," quoth Dempsey today, "I will hereafter practice a bit more in this ducking and dodging stuff. I never figured I needed much of a defense in any battle of my career. I think a mighty offensive is the best defense. And I feel that I can take anything Tunney can hand out without pausing to think it over. But there's no use of my being hit if I can avoid it by practicing defense. So I'm going to let the boys drive at me oftener than they have in the past and get the knack of getting out of the way down to a fine point."

Two Argentine heavyweights were scheduled to arrive during the day.

Wellsville League Tossers in Action At Sherwood Sunday

The Wellsville-Sherwood game, originally billed last Sunday at Sherwood, will be played tomorrow afternoon, officials of the club announced today.

Manager Roy Nicholson, of the Wellsville City league aggregation, has notified the Sherwood management that his club will present a strong lineup for the fray.

Tickets issued last Sunday will be good for tomorrow's game

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Tony Lazzeri chose an opportune time to hit his seventeenth homer of the season, scoring two runs besides his own, and going a great deal toward accomplishing a 4 to 1 victory for the Yanks over the Tigers.

Pitcher Sherrod Smith's home run in the twelfth won the second game of a double header for Cleveland from the Red Sox, 5 to 4. The Indians walked away with the first game, 9 to 3.

The Cardinals lost their second straight to Philadelphia, 9 to 7, dimming slightly their pennant chances. Bentley got a home run, double and a single.

A ninth inning rally by the Senators, netting two, failed to save Washington from losing the third straight game to the White Sox. The score was 5 to 3.

Bullet Joe Bush did some tall pitching and no mean hitting, and held the Giants to four hits. Pittsburgh won, 4 to 0, but it was a stiff pitchers' battle except in the seventh inning, where the Pirates scored all their runs.

The Reds advanced to second place in the National league, only four points behind the Pirates, by sailing into the Dodgers to win a shut-out game, 4 to 0.

The Browns were treated to a new sensation at Shibe park, Philadelphia, yesterday, by licking the Athletics, 7 to 1. Although St. Louis team has played ten series at Philadelphia, this was the first time they had won this season.

Steady pitching by Tony Kaufman allowed the Cubs to run their winning streak to six. Tony held the braves to five hits, enabling Chicago to win 5 to 1.

YOUNG CHAMP TRAPSHOOTER

Springfield Veteran Shoots Perfect Score to Win.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 28—After competing in every grand American handicap since its inception in 1900, Charles A. Young, veteran Springfield, Ohio, shooter, stands today as the 1926 champion of all trapshooters.

He had to shoot a perfect score of 100 to win the event, with three others on his heels, with 99's and ten finishing with 98.

A. C. Johnson, of Cable, Ohio, won second place after a shoot-off.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you try to so hit the ball with a brassie or spoon that the ball will be sure to rise you probably will make a poor shot. Let the clubhead make the ball rise which it will do if you merely swing the clubhead thru the ball. When the ball is in a slight depression in the fairway or on very thin grass you can aid the clubhead some by aiming to hit immediately back of the ball. This calls for very careful play, however, and unless you are very much the master of your swing your better choice invariably will be to take an iron. You may not make the full distance but you usually will get more distance off the iron than will result from a poor brassie shot. When you try to help the club get the ball up you invariably finish on the right leg with all the weight back, the surest way not to get the ball up. Learn to depend upon your clubs.

Fourteen-Hour Swim Will Net Her Fortune

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Being duly presented with the key to the city was all very well yesterday, and quite a gracious gesture, at that, but with calm reflection it came to Gertrude Ederle this morning the knowledge that it wasn't a key that would open any banks, nor would it lock the family door against the wolf.

However, I don't believe the lady will need that kind of a key, now or forever henceforth. Trudy will be wealthy in her own right by Christmas.

The harvest moon, in fact, is about to come to the full and soon will be casting its golden flow over her left shoulder. This is the same moon that shed its rays in such profusion about the hallowed figure of Harold "Red" Grange last fall.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts, say the philosophers, but they didn't say anything about agents, bearing contracts. The line was beginning to form on the left today.

The chances are that by the time Trudy finishes signing documents, she will have tied herself up with at least $150,000 that will be hers before the first of the year, while her total earnings for the next twelve months probably won't be less than a quarter of a million. That's almost enough to take her father away from his butchers' block and buy him a ringside seat in the Chicago stock yards.

Vaudeville Tour Arranged.

As I understand it, Trudy will sign up for a vaudeville tour that may carry through six months. She probably will play New York houses for ten weeks at $3,000 a week and then will go on the road at $2,000 a week. This venture alone will net her more than $40,000.

When it is over, it will be about time for her to start following the climate with a series of well-paid exhibitions. She could and probably will go to California, earn that $25,000 they want to give her for swimming to Catalina Island then swing back thru New Orleans and the south, giving exhibitions wherever they have the fancy to pay her. Florida should provide a happy hunting ground in this connection.

Writes Swimming Articles.

Another source of steady income will be furnished by the magazines and newspapers. Trudy already has arranged to get top prices from a national magazine for a series of articles on swimming and I understand that agents of similar publications are cluttering up her doorstep. The magazine racket should net her $25,000 in a reasonable short time. Syndicated newspaper articles probably will bring in $5,000 more.

And then those dear, advertising testimonials! All she has to say is that she owes her success in life to rubber heels, hair nets, vanity cases, fly swatters and eating soup with a fork. Before her name dries on the dotted line, she will have thousands of dollars poured in her lap.

She won't get all of it, however.

Local Jeweler Shows "Fighting Muskie" He Landed in Ontario

James J. Reese, Sixth street jeweler, is proudly exhibiting the mounted "fighting muskie" which he snared in a battle at Trout Lake, Ontario, July 10.

Reese and John Golden, of this city, were trolling on Trout lake only a short time after their arrival there on a camping trip. They had been out only 20 minutes when the strike came, Reese says. The "tiger" broke water seven times in its fight to dislodge the hook.

After close to an hour's maneouvering, the fish was brought close enough to the boat to gaff. Golden managed to get the hook in his gill, but one ferocious swish of his powerful body broke the three-foot wooden handle like it was a match.

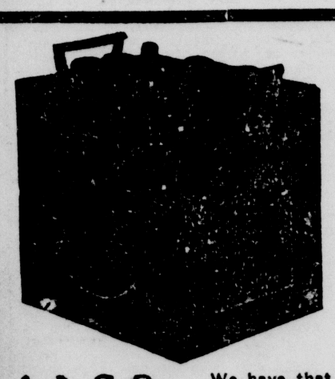

But Reese hung on and later managed to bring his catch into shallow water, then dragged it out on shore and dispatched it with a club. The fish is a perfect specimen of the fighting muskie and is beautifully mounted.

The muskie was 45 inches long, with a girth measurement of 22 1-2 inches and weighed 34 pounds.

Dudley Field Malone cuts twenty-five per cent, I believe, which isn't bad at all, considering the fact that Dudley didn't swim any channel and wouldn't if he could.

NEW FEATURES ON CHEVROLET

Local Dealers Display "Smoothest Chevrolet" Here.

New features and mechanical refinements adding still further to ease of operation and driving comfort, and striking new Duco colors characterize the "Smoothest Chevrolet" just announced by Trotter-Chevrolet Co.

A motor even more remarkable for smoothness of operation and new colors that reflect the latest and most harmonious blending of smart lines and artistic hues are revealed in this car. The new features are announced in the middle of the greatest sales year in Chevrolet history.

Among the more important new features included are the following: A new cross member, strengthening the motor support at the transmission housing, thus still further reducing vibration and at the same time adding greater ruggedness to frame and chassis; a re-designed cam shaft with cams scientifically rounded to eliminate noise; gas and spark controls mounted with horn button on top of the steering column, affording not only easier control in driving but also giving a more artistic appearance; an improved universal joint with trunnions operating in separate bushings to give longer wear and to afford easier access; a new battery and battery support, and a more sturdy tie-rod between the front fenders which permits a more rigid support of the headlights and their better focusing.

A notable feature is the ingenious stop-light switch which has no wire attached to the brake pedal and no pull-back spring on the switch, thereby eliminating a frequent source of annoyance of failure to function properly. The new switch is of non-arcing, lever type and is operated by the brake rod.

The new battery is equipped with a solid rubber case and has the handles built in as part of the case, thus eliminating metal handles which are subject to corrosion. The new type carrier holds the battery in such a way as to eliminate any strains on the battery case and the consequent liability of breakage.

New, brilliant and striking combinations of colors in Duco appear on all the models. The sedan is finished in Algerian blue; the coach in Thebes gray; the landau in Alpine green; the coupe in Dundee gray; while all open models are finished in Biscay green.

All models have a rear view mirror and there is a handy pocket in right front door of closed cars as standard equipment. The landau, sedan and coupe are equipped with disc wheels. Balloon tires are standard equipment on all closed models. The wood wheels on the coach, touring and roadster are now finished in Duco.

So prosperous have become natives of Sumatra, through the soaring rubber prices, that they are buying many automobiles of American make.

MIDLAND STARTS DRIVE AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS

Six Places Raided in Clean-up Campaign.

BOOZE FOUND

Proprietor of Gambling House Draws $100 Fine.

Midland police have launched a campaign against bootlegging and gambling places in the town. During the past few days a number of raids have been conducted.

At the home of Mrs. Mary Rich, the officers say, they found 65 quarts of beer and one and one-half gallons of wine. The raiding party, which consisted of Sergeants Kellar and Stett, Patrolman McKee and Moore, next visited the home of Mrs. Christina Bekove, Woodlane, where they say they found 44 quarts of beer and a pint of moonshine.

The homes of Cesare Camaloni in Penn avenue was the next place raided. Here the officers alleged they found 200 gallons of bottled beer and 50 gallons in kegs, 150 gallons of wine, part in jugs and part in barrels. The liquor was all destroyed.

Mike Kukuch, of Ohio avenue, was fined $100 and costs for having in his possession two quarts of moonshine and four quarts of wine.

At a house in Midland avenue the officers found a small quantity of moonshine and two barrels of raisin mash. The proprietor, Voyo Duckich, was charged with running a disorderly house and with the possession of intoxicating liquor.

A short time later a gambling place in Penn avenue was raided and the proprietor, Jesse Hodges, negro, better known as "Tree Top," arrested and taken before Justice Kennedy, where he was fined $100 and costs. Six other persons, patrons, of the place, were fined $10 and costs for visiting a disorderly house.

GERTRUDE EDERLE, genuine "Miss America," landed in her home town, "Little Old New York," yesterday. Friends and neighbors gave her a "block party."

New York's mayor gave her a reception with a band, and policemen parading.

The young lady brings honor and glory to her family and country.

GIRLS that try to be "skinny" notice that Gertrude, champion of the world, weighs over 160 pounds, is proud of it, and can have her choice of 1,000 good husbands.

And after she won her victory, conquering the channel, this young girl went, not to a cabaret, but straight to her old grandmother in the south of Germany.

The young will please observe that reverence for the old does not interfere with winning a world championship.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS and Mary Pickford returned from a trip around the world yesterday. They cut the trip short. Mary Pickford said, because there is so much to be seen in the United States that it seems almost a pity to use up time traveling abroad.

THE brilliant French aviator, D'Oisy crossing Africa at night, flew over the Mediterranean and on to Paris, covering 2,750 miles, including five stops, in 38 hours 45 minutes. D'Oisy, apparently made of steel, ran the machine throughout the 38 hours. Americans will fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as a regular thing, by the light of the same day, before long. A United States army flyer has already accomplished it.

KRISHNAMURTI is here, and those that have seen him like him. He will tell us interesting truths now, and later his delicate 100-pound body is to become an estatic new vehicle for the world teacher. He rebukes us for our devotion to physicial comfort.

"Ah," says he, "see how you love comfort! Your bathrooms. You neglect the high spiritual plane, you are so physical."

India has three times the United States' poulation. In the United States, at the lowest estimate, are 10,000 times as many bath tubs as in India. If those bath tubs represent a low spiritual plane, make the most of it.

THE "incandescent sunset" from India will have no monopoly of reforming Americans. Tenko Nishida, the "Socrates of Japan," exponent of "the life of Ittoen," has reached Honolulu, coming here.

He informs you, that "labor is prayer and prayer is labor," and doesn't mean eight-hour labor, either.

He and his wife worked their way across the Pacific, washing the ship's

How Much Rent Are You Paying Per Month?

Did you ever figure out how much this amounts to in five years or ten years? Take paper and pencil and work out the amount. It will surprise you. It would go far toward paying for your home.

So why not stop putting your rent money in someone else's pocket and build a home of your own?

The first step is to decide on plans—and in this we are ready to help. Our Washington Information Bureau has for distribution a booklet showing exterior views and floor plans of 60 brick houses that are masterpieces of the architects skill.

Owner of Gas Station on Lisbon-Salem Road Opens Fire on Strangers, Who Flee.

FORD MACHINE IS ABANDONED

Sheriff Wright Hurries to Scene of Attempted Holdup But Secures no Trace of Culprits.

Charles H. Loop, 55, proprietor of a gas filling station at McCracken's corner on the Lisbon-Salem road, was held up and assaulted about 11 o'clock last night by three or four unmasked men who abandoned their car and made their escape.

Loop, who was cut below the right ear, was given medical treatment by Dr. C. F. Swift of Wellsville, who was hailed in a passing car. Later he was placed in charge of a physician who was summoned from Salem. His injuries are not serious.

Shoots At Strangers.

Sheriff George Wright, who reached the scene shortly after the hold-up notified police officials of Salem, Leetonia and other places of the robbery but up to noon today no trace had been found of the bandits.

The men, it is said, drove up to the filling station and one of them jumped out and asked for five gallons of gas and one a quart of oil. Loop had placed the gasoline in the tank and was about to pour the oil into the engine when the man struck him with a tool used in changing tires.

He was stunned by the blow but quickly recovering made a dash for his home nearby and securing his shot gun opened fire on the men, two of whom he struck with the oil can

RECORD VOTE EXPECTED IN TEXAS TODAY

Whistles Shriek and Church Bells Ring During Day.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 28.—While whistles shrilled in the cities and while church bells rang in the towns, Texas voters went to the polls today to decide the fate of Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, first woman to be elected governor in the United States, seeking re-election.

At the ballot boxes will be settled the classic political contest of the year in the southwest. On the one side is "Ma" Ferguson and her victriolic husband James E. Ferguson, former governor, ousted by the impeachment route. Pitted against them is Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, sometimes averred to as the "dragon fighter in business clothing." Moody gained fame in Texas by fighting the Ku Klux Klan in his home county of Williamson, sending five of them to the state penitentiary for flogging a man whom they claimed was too much of a shiek among the ladies.

Says Klan Supports Moody.

"Ma" and "Jim," they always are referred to thus, have claimed in the campaign that closed last night that Moody has the support of the klan. That and other charges and indictments are what have created so much interest in today's event.

APPEALED CASE OF WELLSVILLE POLICE CHIEF ENDS ABRUPTLY

Rebuttal Witnesses are Heard at Friday Afternoon Session.

TO FILE BRIEFS

Judge Spence Withholds Decision to Consider Evidence.

Appealed case of John H. Fultz, former Wellsville police chief, against the decision of the civil service commission, came to an abrupt conclusion yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock in common pleas court when Judge W. H. Spence announced from the bench, "This case is closed."

Attorneys have been given three days in which to file briefs, and after these have been submitted to the court, it will probably be several days before Judge Spence makes his decision.

Testimony for Fultz, both direct and cross examination, was resumed when court re-convened yesterday afternoon and shortly before 3 o'clock counsel of Fultz announced "This is our case."

Mayor Fogo Recalled.

Following a brief recess, prosecuting counsel called several rebuttal witnesses, including Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Under the examination of Attorney Cochran, the witness was asked:

"You made statements or political promises during your campaign that you would remove Chief Fultz?"

"I never did, neither to Mrs. Heiney nor Mosby in regard to Fultz."

"To anybody?"

"No sir."

"If conditions were as you say they were, why didn't you give the warrants to Fultz?"

"He's already testified to that," came from Mr. Grosshans.

"I gave him the first warrant," the witness replied.

"About the second raid?"

"Next night he was sick."

"You stack the barrels along side of the city building to have the photograph taken?"

"Yes sir."

The final lap of her journey from Hollywood to New York finds the Polish movie star in a state of prostration. Constant application of ice bags to her head and above her heart is being resorted to by her nurse, Adeline Valencia, in the hope that the journey can be completed.

AMERICAN IS SECOND WOMAN TO ACCOMPLISH SWIMMING FEAT

Covers Distance in 15 Hours and 28 Minutes.

BRITISHER FAILS

Gertrude Ederle's Time Still Stands as Record.

DOVER, England, Aug. 28.—Again woman has conquered the English channel.

Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, landed at Shakespeare Beach, Dover, this afternoon, and thus became the second woman in history to swim the English channel.

Reaches Shore at 3.

The plucky New York woman walked on to the English shore at 3 o'clock, having been in the water for 15 hours and 28 minutes.

Gertrude Ederle's record of 14 hours and 32 minutes still stands, but the New York woman, mother of two children, made a valiant attempt at lowering the record achieved by the sturdy New York girl.

Thus far the second time this summer, Englishmen have stood on their shores to see an American woman achieve that which only five men before them have achieved.

'Trudy' Congratulates Mrs. Corson In Her Swimming Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—"That's wonderful—I extend my heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Corson," said Gertrude Ederle when informed by International News Service that Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, mother of two children, had also swam the English channel.

"But," she added, with a smile, "I'm glad that I was the first woman to swim it."

Winning her victory against the turbid waters of the channel today Mrs. Corson not only brings new fame to American womanhood, but she also won what constituted a race against Great Britain, for Frank Perks of Birmingham, started from the French shores last night at approximately the same time as Mrs. Corson and followed in her wake all the way across the channel, but when the American woman was making her last courageous dash for the shore Perks found the battle too great and gave up.

Showed Disappointment.

Flushed with victory when she stepped on to the pebbly beach beneath the Shakespeare cliffs, just outside of Dover, Mrs. Corson was nevertheless just a little disappointed for she had hoped to lower the record of Gertrude Ederle.

The victory of Mrs. Corson was spectacular for during the last 300 yards she battled against a changing tide. The ebb tide began to set in just when the American woman was a quarter of a mile within the goal.

MILLER BREAKS OTHER RECORDS

Trans-continental Driver Reaches New York in 83 Hours.

Driving a Wills-Ste. Clair roadster from San Francisco to New York city, L. B. Miller, coast-to-coast auto driver, set a new transcontinental record of 83 hours and 12 minutes, according to word received here today by H. B. Barth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miller's time lowers the record established several weeks ago of 86 hours and 20 minutes, but he failed to attain the objective he had set for himself. It was Miller's aim to make the cross-country trip in 80 hours, but tire trouble in Wyoming, which cost him precious minutes, proved an obstacle he could not surmount.

He reached New York city early yesterday morning, passing through East Liverpool at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

INVESTIGATION INTO CAUSE OF FATAL AIR CRASH TO BE MADE

Rear Admiral Moffett Orders Quiz Into Circumstances of Accident Which Ended Fatally for Commander Rodgers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—While the entire navy mourned the loss of Commander John Rodgers, pioneer naval aviator, fatally injured at Philadelphia, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the air corps, today ordered a thorough investigation to clear up the mystery surrouning the crash.

Reports reaching the navy department releaved a confused picture of the fall of Commander Rodgers into the Delaware river with none of the spectators able to give a clear account of just how the airplane crumpled probably 75 feet in the air and dashed into the shallow water of the river.

With Commander Rodgers mechanic, aviation machinists' mate, Samuel Schultz, lying in a hospital with a broken back and his recovery doubtful, high officers of the navy feared that the true store of the crash might never be fully explained.

It was announced here today that Commander Rodgers' body will be taken from Philadelphia tonight to his parents' home in Havre De Grace, Md., and funeral services conducted there on Monday.

Tuesday afternoon the body will be brought to Arlington national cemetery for interment.

EGYPTIAN FAILS TO CROSS CHANNEL

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 28.—Ishak Helmy, the Egyptian swimmer, was forced to abandon his attempt to swim the English channel at 2:35 o'clock this morning. He returned to Boulogne aboard the tug Alsace.

Although Helmy began his swim a half-hour before Mrs. Clementon Carson took to the water in her attempt to swim the channel, Helmy was outdistanced within two hours, being carried off his course by adverse currents.

ON BOARD THE GOLDEN STATE LIMITED, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A shrine to the living, not a monument to the dead, is the pledge of love Pola Negri today made to the memory of Rudolph Valentino as she lay spent with grief in the narrow confines of her drawing room en route to view the body of the man she loved.

The final lap of her journey from Hollywood to New York finds the Polish movie star in a state of prostration. Constant application of ice bags to her head and above her heart is being resorted to by her nurse, Adeline Valencia, in the hope that the journey can be completed.

Every effort is being made to conserve her nervous energy, and her secretary, Miss Florence Hein, on the doctor's orders, is denying everybody admission to her room.

Today, for the first time, the span of silence imposed upon her by the physician's orders was broken when

AMERICAN IS SECOND WOMAN TO ACCOMPLISH SWIMMING FEAT

Covers Distance in 15 Hours and 28 Minutes.

BRITISHER FAILS

Gertrude Ederle's Time Still Stands as Record.

DOVER, England, Aug. 28. —Again woman has conquered the English channel.

Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, landed at Shakespeare Beach, Dover, this afternoon, and thus became the second woman in history to swim the English channel.

Reaches Shore at 3.

The plucky New York woman walked on to the English shore at 3 o'clock, having been in the water for 15 hours and 28 minutes.

Gertrude Ederle's record of 14 hours and 32 minutes still stands, but the New York woman, mother of two children, made a valiant attempt at lowering the record achieved by the sturdy New York girl.

Thus far the second time this summer, Englishmen have stood on their shores to see an American woman achieve that which only five men before them have achieved.

'Trudy' Congratulates Mrs. Corson In Her Swimming Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—"That's wonderful—I extend my heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Corson," said Gertrude Ederle when informed by International News Service that Mrs. Clementon Corson, of New York, mother of two children, had also swam the English channel.

"But," she added, with a smile, "I'm glad that I was the first woman to swim it."

Winning her victory against the turbid waters of the channel today Mrs. Corson not only brings new fame to American womanhood, but she also won what constituted a race against Great Britain, for Frank Perks of Birmingham, started from the French shores last night at approximately the same time as Mrs. Corson and followed in her wake all the way across the channel, but when the American woman was making her last courageous dash for the shore Perks found the battle too great and gave up.

Showed Disappointment.

Flushed with victory when she stepped on to the pebbly beach beneath the Shakespeare cliffs, just outside of Dover, Mrs. Corson was nevertheless just a little disappointed for she had hoped to lower the record of Gertrude Ederle.

The victory of Mrs. Corson was spectacular for during the last 300 yards she battled against a changing tide. The ebb tide began to set in just when the American woman was a quarter of a mile within the goal.

MILLER BREAKS OTHER RECORDS

Trans-continental Driver Reaches New York in 83 Hours.

Driving a Wills-Ste. Clair roadster from San Francisco to New York city, L. B. Miller, coast-to-coast auto driver, set a new transcontinental record of 83 hours and 12 minutes, according to word received here today by H. B. Barth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miller's time lowers the record established several weeks ago of 86 hours and 20 minutes, but he failed to attain the objective he had set for himself. It was Miller's aim to make the cross-country trip in 80 hours, but tire trouble in Wyoming, which cost him precious minutes, proved an obstacle he could not surmount.

He reached New York city early yesterday morning, passing through East Liverpool at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

INVESTIGATION INTO CAUSE OF FATAL AIR CRASH TO BE MADE

Rear Admiral Moffett Orders Quiz Into Circumstances of Accident Which Ended Fatally for Commander Rodgers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—While the entire navy mourned the loss of Commander John Rodgers, pioneer naval aviator, fatally injured at Philadelphia, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the air corps, today ordered a thorough investigation to clear up the mystery surrouning the crash.

Reports reaching the navy department releaved a confused picture of the fall of Commander Rodgers into the Delaware river with none of the spectators able to give a clear account of just how the airplane crumpled probably 75 feet in the air and dashed into the shallow water of the river.

With Commander Rodgers mechanic, aviation machinists' mate, Samuel Schultz, lying in a hospital with a broken back and his recovery doubtful, high officers of the navy feared that the true store of the crash might never be fully explained.

It was announced here today that Commander Rodgers' body will be taken from Philadelphia tonight to his parents' home in Havre De Grace, Md., and funeral services conducted there on Monday.

Tuesday afternoon the body will be brought to Arlington national cemetery for interment.

Diplomatic Victory Won Unexpectedly By Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Soviet Russia won an unexpected diplomatic success today.

Latvia and Esthonia notified the soviet that they are willing to negotiate separate mutual neutrality treaties with the Soviet.

Heretofore these Baltic nations have insisted that they could negotiate such pacts with Russia only in conjunction with Poland.

Russia regards the new move as an indication that the Baltic states are freeing themselves from Polish influences.

Fears that Poland would attempt to create a Baltic block and make war on Russia were lessened by today's developments.

GLITTER By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—V.

Sublime to ridiculous was exactly the distance from Yvonne's apartment to the University Club. There Jock found an uproarious trio, who greeted him with huzzahs and immediate earnest requests to "drink up."

"As soon as you acquire as elegant a bun as we've got," said Dopey Lane, "the expedition starts."

The expedition started at quarter of five. It may best be described as seven suitcases, two instrument-cases, three traveling-bags, three bags of golf clubs, a steamer trunk, and four young gentlemen in sardine formation, all moving along in, on and about an equipage of an ilk not to be easily determined because there was little to be seen of itself except the wheels.

For a time the collective mentalities of the founr young gentlemen were bent upon the intricate business of getting out of New York. But once they were out, and on the open road, they relaxed and became themselves. They hooted. They sang. Bill Olmstead rode for some time astride the hood, playing his saxophone, so that they might sing the better. Wearying of this, he perched upon the roadster's door and led a whisting chorus which all voted delightful. "The Four Horsemen of the Puckered Lips," announced Pink Davis in a shout to spellbound spectators.

As they passed through towns they bared their heads and bowed to right and left graciously, like Presidential candidates. Whenever a pretty girl was sighted they did more; they stopped the car, rose to their feet, and emitted a solemn cheer with three long "Momma's!" on the end. Once they were halted by an irate motorcycle policeman, whom Pink soothed by slipping a flat brown bottle with a label interesting if true into his pocket.

"What did you do that for?" demanded Dopey as they drove away, waving back in a friendly fashion. "We could have talked him out of it, without shedding a pint of our heart's blood."

"Yes," said Jock, "and besides, some day you'll get into trouble that way, Pink. You've got to remember there are a few honest cops in the world. Suppose he had happened to be a prohibition enforcement officer or something—what then?"

"Nothing then," replied Pink calmly. "That bottle didn't have a thing in it but water."

The total casualties of the trip were one dog, one snake, and 14 chickens. Of these, only the snake received proper obsequies; he was removed from the dust and entwined in state about the motor-meter.

They had one accident. From a hidden road running perpendicular to the highway, a small tin automobile laden—nay, jammed — with humans, hopped out at them unexpectedly. There was a slight jarring sensation, and Dopey and Bill, gazing back with interest as they dashed around a curve, reported that the small tin automobile was reclining on its side against the bank—"And heads popping out like Jack-in-the-box, by gee!"

When the curve hid them safely from view they braked to a standstill and held consultation. Presently the occupants of the small tin automobile beheld four young men, pedestrians, coming toward them along the road. At sight of their predicament the pedesttrians broke into a run and approached them in great concern, crying, "What's happened? Was there an accident?"

"Somethin' hit us," replied the owner of the machine vaguely. He was a rat-like person, little and frightened-looking, and busily engaged in extricating himself from a seething tangle of arms and legs. He addressed these collectively. "Anybody hurt?" And then individually "Are you all right, Ma? Mary? All right, Joe? All right, Lucy? How're you, Junior? Where's Tom? All right, huh, well, who's got the baby? Baby all right?—"

"The father of his country," whispered Pink to Jock.

When all had been hauled forth and set upright on the road there was found to be nothing amiss except a bump on Junior's forehead and a hole in Mary's stocking, which she lamented as loudly as though she had lost her leg. Ma, a lady twice as big as her biggest child and probably three times as big as Pa, took up the burden of narrative. "We was just comin' along, easy as you please, an' Pa tooted his horn, you did toot your horn, didn't you Pa, he did, an' then first we knew, sudden-like, somethin' hit us and' pushed us into the ditch—"

"It was a otterbile!" shrieked Joe. "I seen it—it was a otterbile full of suitcases—"

The four young men were all compassion. "Do you mean to tell me " demanded the one with the rosy cheeks, "that a car hit you and pushed you into the ditch and didn't even stop? Why, that's an outrage! I tell you, maniacs like that ought not to be allowed to have carts, let alone drive them around the country that way, endangering in that reckless way the lives of innocent people!"

They assisted Pa to right the small tin automobile and saw it wheeze off unharmed, fluttering hands of divers sizes from all sides. "Now warn't they nice?" Ma was sighing gratefully. She would remember them for the rest of her life as a quartet of Good Samaritans.

About 7 o'clock, just as they neared a sizable city, hunger assailed them. "Shall we pay?" queried Pink, "or shall we not pay?"

"Not!" chorused the others vigorously.

Their ensuing conduct was a triumph in strategy. First they paused at a second-hand shop and purchased two more suitcases, dilapidated ones, for a pittance. These they packed with empty oil cans and filthy cotton waste begged from the garage where they stored the roadster, until tentative lifting convinced them that the proper degree of heaviness had been attained. Then Jock and Dopey Lane, each carrying one of these suitcases, approached the largest and best hotel of the town and demanded a room in the grand manner. Having registered under the names (but not the titles) of the science professor and the dean of their college, they were conducted to an excellent double room with bath on the second floor.

Scarcely had they concluded a pseudo battle as to which should be privileged to tip the bellboy—a battle staged for the bellboy's benefit and rendered somewhat anticlimactical by the tip itself, which proved to be a nickel on sight and a plugged nickel on his attempt to spend it two days later—when the room telephone jangled commandingly. Jock answered.

"What ho?"

"Two gentlemen calling, sir."

"Who are they? Get their names."

There was a longish interval. Then the room-clerk's voice said, "Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, sir."

"No! Say, that's fine—tell them to come right up, please—we'll be glad to see them."

Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, in the persons of Bill and Pink, appeared promptly. There ensued another telephone conversation, this time between Jock and Room Service, and having to do with "four of the best steak dinners you can toss together, served up here as soon as possible."

These were brought in good time, and the check signed by Jock with a flourish — "William Andrews, Room 239." "Have them charge it on my final bill," he said to the waiter.

An hour later, having dined riotously and to the point of actual physical discomfort, the foursome sauntered downstairs, leaving the suitcases and oilcans behind them in token of appreciation. "Want to show you around our town for an hour or so," Pink was saying as they passed the room-clerk's desk. "Best little town in the U. S. A.—"

They retrieved the roadster from the garage and proceeded onward rejoicing.

SPLENDID CAST IN NEW MOVIE

"Isle of Retribution" is Story of Frozen North.

Imagine a fortune-hunting society debutante and her snobbish mother, reared to be useless if ornamental fungi growing on the trunk of the social tree; imagine a spoiled, pampered son of a strong millionaire who made his money in the Northland wastes; imagine a beautiful, sincere and courageous girl who acts as secretary to the rich father; —and then imagine these people all cast away on a barren Alaskan island after their vessel has split on an ice-berg in the sullen nothern seas! Add to this the picture of a terrific brute, soured on the world by his experiences in the salt mines of Siberia and as infernally cruel as he is powerful, and you will have a few inadequate flashes of what you may expect from "The Isle of Retribution," which is playing its last engagements today at the Ceramic theatre. This rugged melodrama of the frozen wastlands is replete withm punch and as vivid as a Turner sunset. It has been splendidly directed by James Hogan, and a superlative cast is headed by Lillian Rich, with Robert Frazer, David Torrence, Victor M'Laglen, Mildred Harris, Kathleen Kirkham, Inez Gomez and others in support. The story is Fred Mynton's adaptation of the original novel by Edison Marshall.

AMERICAN HAS GOOD PICTURE

Corrine Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom" is Booked.

Since the organization of Corrine Griffith's own First National Pictures unit, E. M. Asher, general manager, has seen to it that the beautiful star has had a new leading man in each succeeding production. In "Classified" Miss Griffith's lead was Jack Mulhall, in "Infatuation," Malcolm MacGregor and Percy Marmont shared honors and in "Mlle. Modiste," Norman Kerry was the sweetheart of the fair Corrine.

Einar Hanson, celebrated Swedish film star, who made his American film debut recently, plays opposite Miss Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom," which Svend Gade directed and which starts an engagement at the American Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Hanson, who is anything but Scandinavian in appearance, is 23 years old. He came to America less than six months ago following a sensational performance in "Piazza del Popolo," made in Italy by the Scandinavian Film Co., and for which the Italian government honored him with a special medal of honor. For six years prior to taking up screen work Hanson was on the Swedish and Danish speaking stage. Hanson was starred by the Nordisk, Swedish and Oswald studios of Sweden and Norway and by the Sofar Company of Berlin before coming to Hollywood. He is the third Swedish screen star to gain immediate favor with American producers the past year—Greta Nissen and Greta Garbo being his predecessors.

In Miss Griffith's "Into the Kingdom" Hanson plays Stepan, an American born Russian bolshevist soldier who marries a Grand Duchess that he may give her a punishment worse than death and who, after returning to America with her, falls desperately in love with her.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

401. Did Jesus give "Himself a ransom for all?"

Answer: Yes. See 1 Timothy 2:5, 6.

402. What does it mean then, "I have found a ransom?"

Answer: I have found that Jesus gave Himself a ransom for me; and I believe in Him and accept Him as my Savior and Redeemer.

403. What is said about this matter in Hosea 13.16?

Answer: "I will ransom them (bring them back) from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death." Consequently the living ones, when the due time comes, will not have to go into death.

404. Besides being delivered from going into "the pit," the grave, what else will happen to those who find a ransom—find Jesus—in that day?

Answer: See Job. 33:24, 25.

405. If their flesh becomes "fresher than a child's and "they return to the days of their youth," would that be "restitution" for the living ones?

Answer: Yes; for life in its fullness is what was lost in Eden.

406. Are we near the time when some of the dead will be raised to life, and for that reason it will no longer be necessary for the living ones to die?

Answer: Yes; very near, for it is to begin when "Michael (Jesus) stands up" (Daniel 12:1, 2) takes His power and begins His reign. See Revelation 11:17, 18.

407. How do we know that this time is very near at hand?

Answer: Because we are in the midst of "the great time of trouble" (Daniel 12:1), and immediately following it shall "many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth awake." See Daniel 12:1-2.

Has it not many times occurred to you that there must be some reasonable explanation of the cause of world-wide unrest, distress and perplexities? Where is the rational human being who has not often wished that things were different—who does not long for peace, happiness, freedom from pain and sorrow?

The divine plan for man's release from all causes of unhappiness is not only reasonable but genuinely heart-cheering.

Diplomatic Victory Won Unexpectedly By Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Soviet Russia won an unexpected diplomatic success today.

Latvia and Esthonia notified the soviet that they are willing to negotiate separate mutual neutrality treaties with the Soviet.

Heretofore these Baltic nations have insisted that they could negotiate such pacts with Russia only in conjunction with Poland.

Russia regards the new move as an indication that the Baltic states are freeing themselves from Polish influences.

Fears that Poland would attempt to create a Baltic block and make war on Russia were lessened by today's developments.

GLITTER By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—V.

Sublime to ridiculous was exactly the distance from Yvonne's apartment to the University Club. There Jock found an uproarious trio, who greeted him with huzzahs and immediate earnest requests to "drink up."

"As soon as you acquire as elegant a bun as we've got," said Dopey Lane, "the expedition starts."

The expedition started at quarter of five. It may best be described as seven suitcases, two instrument-cases, three traveling bags, three bags of golf clubs, a steamer trunk, and four young gentlemen in sardine formation, all moving along in, on and about an equipage of an ilk not to be easily determined because there was little to be seen of itself except the wheels.

For a time the collective mentalities of the founr young gentlemen were bent upon the intricate business of getting out of New York. But once they were out, and on the open road, they relaxed and became themselves. They hooted. They sang. Bill Olmstead rode for some time astride the hood, playing his saxophone, so that they might sing the better. Wearying of this, he perched upon the roadster's door and led a whisting chorus which all voted delightful. "The Four Horsemen of the Puckered Lips," announced Pink Davis in a shout to spellbound spectators.

As they passed through towns they bared their heads and bowed to right and left graciously, like Presidential candidates. Whenever a pretty girl was sighted they did more; they stopped the car, rose to their feet, and emitted a solemn cheer with three long "Momma's!" on the end. Once they were halted by an irate motorcycle policeman, whom Pink soothed by slipping a flat brown bottle with a label interesting if true into his pocket.

"What did you do that for?" demanded Dopey as they drove away, waving back in a friendly fashion. "We could have talked him out of it, without shedding a pint of our heart's blood."

"Yes," said Jock, "and besides, some day you'll get into trouble that way, Pink. You've got to remember there are a few honest cops in the world. Suppose he had happened to be a prohibition enforcement officer or something—what then?"

"Nothing then," replied Pink calmly. "That bottle didn't have a thing in it but water."

The total casualties of the trip were one dog, one snake, and 14 chickens. Of these, only the snake received proper obsequies; he was removed from the dust and entwined in state about the motor-meter.

They had one accident. From a hidden road running perpendicular to the highway, a small tin automobile laden—nay, jammed — with humans, hopped out at them unexpectedly. There was a slight jarring sensation, and Dopey and Bill, gazing back with interest as they dashed around a curve, reported that the small tin automobile was reclining on its side against the bank—"And heads popping out like Jack-in-the-box, by gee!"

When the curve hid them safely from view they braked to a standstill and held consultation. Presently the occupants of the small tin automobile beheld four young men, pedestrians, coming toward them along the road. At sight of their predicament the pedestrians broke into a run and approached them in great concern, crying, "What's happened? Was there an accident?"

"Somethin' hit us," replied the owner of the machine vaguely. He was a rat-like person, little and frightened-looking, and busily engaged in extricating himself from a seething tangle of arms and legs. He addressed these collectively. "Anybody hurt?" And then individually "Are you all right, Ma? Mary? All right, Joe? All right, Lucy? How're you, Junior? Where's Tom? All right, huh, well, who's got the baby? Baby all right?—"

"The father of his country," whispered Pink to Jock.

When all had been hauled forth and set upright on the road there was found to be nothing amiss except a bump on Junior's forehead and a hole in Mary's stocking, which she lamented as loudly as though she had lost her leg. Ma, a lady twice as big as her biggest child and probably three times as big as Pa, took up the burden of narrative. "We was just comin' along, easy as you please, an' Pa tooted his horn, you did toot your horn, didn't you Pa, he did, an' then first we knew, sudden-like, somethin' hit us and' pushed us into the ditch—"

"It was a otterbile!" shrieked Joe. "I seen it—it was a otterbile full of suitcases—"

The four young men were all compassion. "Do you mean to tell me " demanded the one with the rosy cheeks, "that a car hit you and pushed you into the ditch and didn't even stop? Why, that's an outrage! I tell you, maniacs like that ought not to be allowed to have carts, let alone drive them around the country that way, endangering in that reckless way the lives of innocent people!"

They assisted Pa to right the small tin automobile and saw it wheeze off unharmed, fluttering hands of divers sizes from all sides. "Now warn't they nice?" Ma was sighing gratefully. She would remember them for the rest of her life as a quartet of Good Samaritans.

About 7 o'clock, just as they neared a sizable city, hunger assailed them. "Shall we pay?" queried Pink, "or shall we not pay?"

"Not!" chorused the others vigorously.

Their ensuing conduct was a triumph in strategy. First they paused at a second-hand shop and purchased two more suitcases, dilapidated ones, for a pittance. These they packed with empty oil cans and filthy cotton waste begged from the garage where they stored the roadster, until tentative lifting convinced them that the proper degree of heaviness had been attained. Then Jock and Dopey Lane, each carrying one of these suitcases, approached the largest and best hotel of the town and demanded a room in the grand manner. Having registered under the names (but not the titles) of the science professor and the dean of their college, they were conducted to an excellent double room with bath on the second floor.

Scarcely had they concluded a pseudo battle as to which should be privileged to tip the bellboy—a battle staged for the bellboy's benefit and rendered somewhat anticlimactical by the tip itself, which proved to be a nickel on sight and a plugged nickel on his attempt to spend it two days later—when the room telephone jangled commandingly. Jock answered.

"What ho?"

"Two gentlemen calling, sir."

"Who are they? Get their names."

There was a longish interval. Then the room-clerk's voice said, "Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, sir."

"No! Say, that's fine—tell them to come right up, please—we'll be glad to see them."

Mr. Haig and Mr. Walker, in the persons of Bill and Pink, appeared promptly. There ensued another telephone conversation, this time between Jock and Room Service, and having to do with "four of the best steak dinners you can toss together, served up here as soon as possible."

These were brought in good time, and the check signed by Jock with a flourish — "William Andrews, Room 239." "Have them charge it on my final bill," he said to the waiter.

An hour later, having dined riotously and to the point of actual physical discomfort, the foursome sauntered downstairs, leaving the suitcases and oilcans behind them in token of appreciation. "Want to show you around our town for an hour or so," Pink was saying as they passed the room-clerk's desk. "Best little town in the U. S. A.—"

They retrieved the roadster from the garage and proceeded onward rejoicing.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find in it the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street.

401. Did Jesus give "Himself a ransom for all?"

Answer: Yes. See 1 Timothy 2:5, 6.

402. What does it mean then, "I have found a ransom?"

Answer: I have found that Jesus gave Himself a ransom for me; and I believe in Him and accept Him as my Savior and Redeemer.

403. What is said about this matter in Hosea 13.16?

Answer: "I will ransom them (bring them back) from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death." Consequently the living ones, when the due time comes, will not have to go into death.

404. Besides being delivered from going into "the pit," the grave, what else will happen to those who find a ransom—find Jesus—in that day?

Answer: See Job. 33:24, 25.

405. If their flesh becomes "fresher than a child's and "they return to the days of their youth," would that be "restitution" for the living ones?

Answer: Yes; for life in its fullness is what was lost in Eden.

406. Are we near the time when some of the dead will be raised to life, and for that reason it will no longer be necessary for the living ones to die?

Answer: Yes; very near, for it is to begin when "Michael (Jesus) stands up" (Daniel 12:1, 2) takes His power and begins His reign. See Revelation 11:17, 18.

407. How do we know that this time is very near at hand?

Answer: Because we are in the midst of "the great time of trouble" (Daniel 12:1), and immediately following it shall "many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth awake." See Daniel 12:1- 2.

SPLENDID CAST IN NEW MOVIE

"Isle of Retribution" is Story of Frozen North.

Imagine a fortune-hunting society debutante and her snobbish mother, reared to be useless if ornamental fungi growing on the trunk of the social tree; imagine a spoiled, pampered son of a strong millionaire who made his money in the Northland wastes; imagine a beautiful, sincere and courageous girl who acts as secretary to the rich father; —and then imagine these people all cast away on a barren Alaskan island after their vessel has split on an ice-berg in the sullen nothern seas! Add to this the picture of a terrific brute, soured on the world by his experiences in the salt mines of Siberia and as infernally cruel as he is powerful, and you will have a few inadequate flashes of what you may expect from "The Isle of Retribution," which is playing its last engagements today at the Ceramic theatre. This rugged melodrama of the frozen wastlands is replete withm punch and as vivid as a Turner sunset. It has been splendidly directed by James Hogan, and a superlative cast is headed by Lillian Rich, with Robert Frazer, David Torrence, Victor M'Laglen, Mildred Harris, Kathleen Kirkham, Inez Gomez and others in support. The story is Fred Mynton's adaptation of the original novel by Edison Marshall.

AMERICAN HAS GOOD PICTURE

Corrine Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom" is Booked.

Since the organization of Corrine Griffith's own First National Pictures unit, E. M. Asher, general manager, has seen to it that the beautiful star has had a new leading man in each succeeding production. In "Classified" Miss Griffith's lead was Jack Mulhall, in "Infatuation," Malcolm MacGregor and Percy Marmont shared honors and in "Mlle. Modiste," Norman Kerry was the sweetheart of the fair Corrine.

Einar Hanson, celebrated Swedish film star, who made his American film debut recently, plays opposite Miss Griffith in "Into Her Kingdom," which Svend Gade directed and which starts an engagement at the American Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Hanson, who is anything but Scandinavian in appearance, is 23 years old. He came to America less than six months ago following a sensational performance in "Piazza del Popolo," made in Italy by the Scandinavian Film Co., and for which the Italian government honored him with a special medal of honor. For six years prior to taking up screen work Hanson was on the Swedish and Danish speaking stage. Hanson was starred by the Nordisk, Swedish and Oswald studios of Sweden and Norway and by the Sofar Company of Berlin before coming to Hollywood. He is the third Swedish screen star to gain immediate favor with American producers the past year—Greta Nissen and Greta Garbo being his predecessors.

In Miss Griffith's "Into the Kingdom" Hanson plays Stepan, an American born Russian bolshevist soldier who marries a Grand Duchess that he may give her a punishment worse than death and who, after returning to America with her, falls desperately in love with her.

SCHOOL COURSE NOT COMPLETED

Statistics Made Public By Member of State Board.

Facts and figures showing that boys and girls of West Virginia are not taking full advantage of what is offered them by the schools, were given to the Kanawha county teachers' institute, by Y. V. Cavins, director of investigations and statistics, for the state department of education.

In the entire state of West Virginia he said, there is just 16 per cent as many pupils in the ninth grade as there are in the first grade.

This means that if 100 pupils enter a first grade of school, by the time the class reaches the ninth grade, it has dwindled to 16 pupils. In other words, Mr. Cavins pointed out that the pupils leave school on their way through hte elementary classes for various reasons. In the country at large, Mr. Cavins said, an average of 30 per cent of the original attendance in the first grade is maintained in the ninth grade.

In 32 districts of the state, chosen at random, in the one, two and three-room schools, there are 13 per cent as many is the eighth grade as in the first grade; in the five largest cities in West Virginia the average is 52 per cent.

The cost, per elementary pupil in 50 independent districts, is $67.91; in the non-independent districts, the cost per pupil is $34.45.

The number of elementary pupils in all independent districts in the state is 57,158; in the total non-independent districts, the number of pupils is 296,006; in independent district high schools there are 15,724 pupils; in the non-independent district high schools, there are 16,700.

While in each instance the number of pupils, in both high and elementary schools in the non-independent districts is greater than in the independent districts, the number of supervisors and superintendents in the independent districts is greater by far than in the non-independent districts, the figure for the former being 557 against 132 superintendents and supervisors for the non-independent districts.

Mr. Cavin brought out many points to show the advantages held by the pupils in the independent districts where the wealth if greater, than in the non-independent districts.

Where the districts are poor, the tax rate is higher and the attendance less.

Now-the Modern Principles of European Design

are embodied in this New-Type Car

DRAMATIC changes have taken place in automobile standards of design. New engineering practices from Europe made the Overland Six instantly popular.

It is new all through . . . brilliantly engineered as a unit . . . not an old fashioned reconstructed chassis.

To outward appearances this car looks very much like conventional automobiles. Except that it is lower to the ground. And smartly European in appearance.

But hidden beneath the body are scores of vital engineering improvements that have practically revolutionized its performance standards . . . improved its riding qualities . . . cut operating costs to a minimum . . . and added immeasurably to its length of service.

You can drive it at an average speed of 40 to 55 miles an hour without excessive strain on the engine.

Its "high-torque" power plant has ample power to master the steepest hills. Gear shifting has been reduced to a minimum.

It has a low gravity center. An outstanding engineering feature due to these modern principles of design. This means greater safety at all speeds. It means protection against sidesway and serious skidding.

And it means comfort such as you've never known before.

How we reduce upkeep expense

Because of new principles of design the operating cost of an Overland Six has been reduced to the very minimum.

Gasoline expense is exceedingly low. So is oil consumption.

And due to its greater operating efficiency, repair costs have been brought to a new low level.

Thousands of owners report remarkable mileage records, with amazing trouble-free performance.

Top place in resale value. You've probably heard of the National Used Car Blue Book. It's published for the guidance of automobile merchants everywhere . . . to help them in purchasing used cars wisely.

A recent issue of this book gives 1st, 2nd, 4th, and 5th places in used car values among the 1925 models of 17 different automobile companies, to Overland!

So you see that modern engineering counts in used car prices. It will mean a lot to you when it's time to trade-in your car.

See the Overland Six and find out about its modern engineering that means plus-value to you!

NOTE: 4-wheel brakes are furnished at slight extra cost.

Other models: Touring $895; Coupe, $895; DeLuxe Sedan, $1095.

The new WILLYS FINANCE PLAN means less money down, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry. All prices f. o. b. factory. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice.

Now - the Modern Principles of European Design are embodied in this New-Type Car

DRAMATIC changes have taken place in automobile standards of design. New engineering practices from Europe made the Overland Six instantly popular.

It is new all through . . . brilliantly engineered as a unit . . . not an old fashioned reconstructed chassis.

To outward appearances this car looks very much like conventional automobiles. Except that it is lower to the ground. And smartly European in appearance.

But hidden beneath the body are scores of vital engineering improvements that have practically revolutionized its performance standards . . . improved its riding qualities . . . cut operating costs to a minimum . . . and added immeasurably to its length of service.

You can drive it at an average speed of 40 to 55 miles an hour without excessive strain on the engine.

Its "high-torque" power plant has ample power to master the steepest hills. Gear shifting has been reduced to a minimum.

It has a low gravity center. An outstanding engineering feature due to these modern principles of design. This means greater safety at all speeds. It means protection against sidesway and serious skidding.

And it means comfort such as you've never known before.

How we reduce upkeep expense

Because of new principles of design the operating cost of an Overland Six has been reduced to the very minimum.

Gasoline expense is exceedingly low. So is oil consumption.

And due to its greater operating efficiency, repair costs have been brought to a new low level.

Thousands of owners report remarkable mileage records, with amazing trouble-free performance.

Top place in resale value. You've probably heard of the National Used Car Blue Book. It's published for the guidance of automobile merchants everywhere . . . to help them in purchasing used cars wisely.

A recent issue of this book gives 1st, 2nd, 4th, and 5th places in used car values among the 1925 models of 17 different automobile companies, to Overland!

So you see that modern engineering counts in used car prices. It will mean a lot to you when it's time to trade-in your car.

See the Overland Six and find out about its modern engineering that means plus-value to you!

NOTE: 4-wheel brakes are furnished at slight extra cost.

Other models: Touring $895; Coupe, $895; DeLuxe Sedan, $1095.

The new WILLYS FINANCE PLAN means less money down, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry. All prices f. o. b. factory. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice.

Greece Revolves

Gen. Pangalos, president-dictator of Greece, laid plans to borrow money in America to bolster up the drachma and establish his regime solidly in power. Then he went for a vacation to a secluded little island in the Mediterranean. Whereupon Gen. Condylis, former war minister, staged a quick and bloodless revolution, put Pangalos in jail and set free the political prisoners languishing there.

Now, no doubt, Condylis will be asking for those loans.

He may get them, though not from the government. There may be private capitalists willing to risk their money in Greece for as low as 8 1-2 per cent, as the Swedish match monopoly had agreed to do, with permission to raise the price of matches for security. Or there may be gamblers willing to lend some political outfit in Athens the cash it needs for, say 10 per cent interest, with a liberal commission and a guarantee of such customs receipts as are not already hocked. But mostly, Americans will "lay off" that investment market until things settle down in Athens.

It may or may not be "just another dictatorship." The new boss at Athens promises "to establish popular liberty" and "to proceed in eight months at the latest to free elections in order to confide the power to the chosen representatives of the people." It would please mightily the greatest modern democracy—if that is what we are—to have real democracy restored in the country that first taught democracy to the world. That would command the Condylis regime to America, for moral support and financial support both, if anything would. But somehow modern Greece, at best, seems to show little aptitude for self-government.

Morals In Paris And Emporia

Writing from Paris, where he is snugly ensconced in a Latin Quarter studio, "Young Bill" White of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette sends home an interesting comment on Gallic and Saxon morals. He is speaking of the tolerant attitude in France regarding matters of personal morality:

"The Anglo-Saxon attitude is that if our laws governing such matters were repealed today, the entire population would at once fall into devilish and unspeakable ways, civilization would totter and the Y. M. C. A. would close for lack of business.

"If this is so, and I am in no mood to dispute it, the Frenchman is the most conscientious and upright being in the world. Without any laws to bolster up his conscience, or to compel him to do what the Bible says is right, the average citizen of Paris leads a life which is just a decent, upright and Christian in all respects as that of the average citizen of Emporia. The principal difference is that the Frenchman lacks stalwart, public-spirited interest in the irregular doings of geniuses and of mental defectives which is so highly developed in America."

It's an interesting way of looking at the matter, anyway, and one that may be good for the souls of some of us self-righteous folk at a time when, stung by French criticism of us, we're rather less given than usual to doing justice to the French nation.

A Hero Abroad

An American correspondent in Budapest writes that an American citizen named Smith, still in his middle forties, has done more to make America popular in Hungary than any one else in history. This citizen is Jeremiah Smith of Boston, who recently returned home after straightening out Hungary's tangled finances.

It is not Mr. Smith's financial service that commends him and his country to the Hungarians, so much as the way he conducted himself while handling the job.

When he arrived in Budapest a couple of years ago, a royal palace was placed at his disposal. As commissioner-general, the correspondent explains, "the Hungarian officials believed that he would put on a lot of dog.

"For two years he worked day and night on the almost hopeless financial proble. Not once did he make a public speech or issue a statement to the public prints. When he finished his job he closed his desk, handed over his accumulated salary to the local officials and took his departure. There was no blah about making the world safe for democracy or hands across the sea.

"And that is why the name of Smith is great in Budapest."

We can't all follow Jeremiah Smith's example, exactly. Yet some useful hints may be gained from it by a lot of Americans for use in their own dealings with Europe, whether for business or pleasure.

An Argentine sportsman who started to fly from New York to Buenos Ayres last May has just arrived. Why didn't he walk?

It's easy to see why all the motor car manufacturers are prospering, says a cynical person. Nearly everybody who has used any make of car wants to buy some other car.

It may be entertaining when your kid points a toy pistol and tells you to "stick 'em up." But that's the way some bandits begin.

A lot of automobile people seem to be feeling sorry just now for Henry Ford. Remeber when the bankers felt that way about him, and what happened?

Another suggestion for war debt settlements: Let the debtors pay us just enough to buy up all the armament in the world, and then scrap it.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—I am sitting on the veranda of a country home not far from Gotham. It is owned by a man who with 23 years of drudgery has bought the right to rest. The faint refrain of Victor Herbert's "Indian Summer" floats through a half opened window.

Over the knob of a hill a group of golfers are swinging along. There are shouts from a tennis court. A graceful Borzoi dog is cocking his head quizzically at something in the hedge. It is all the atmosphere of leisure—the world of white flannels, buckskin shoes and low-slung roadsters.

The host knows much of life. He has bardpanned in the Yukon. He spent two futile years in far off Benares trying to establish a mill. He has been a logger in the north. He topped nine distinct failures with one whopping success.

Now he is trying to live. I did not know him in other days, but am told he was the life of hell-roaring camps. He was reckless at the gaming tables and succumbed to other primitive urges of his surroundings.

Today he seems subdued. He appears always straining to catch some faint rumbling of life he cannot hear. He does not strike one as particularly happy or particularly sad, but I get the idea he is not overwhelmed by the elation of success.

Observing such men interests me because they have achieved the goal toward which most of us are striving. I notice he likes very young people about him. The irresponsibilities of youth evidently stir some romantic longings.

This morning one of his young guests called out "So long, see you this evening" and raced off for a train to town. The host stood puckering his lips indecisively and watched him out of sigh. I somehow imagined he would like to be racing off to an office too.

It stirred my curiosity in the window of one of those novelty shops. A tiny slightly curved comb about a half thumb long. It seemed a little too small even for those whimsical slight mustaches and not large enough for the silken fluff of a sleeve dog. So I inquired of Monsieur—the proprietor. It was a comb for the eyebrows.

The thing Job feared came upon him. A physician who has attended many songbirds of the Metropolitan and similar operatic ventures says in all such practise the only ailments are those of the throat. He has known cases of fear to so restrict muscles of the throat that a singer could not be heard in a whisper. Fifteen minutes before, the throat was normal.

Similarly about the only affliction of the ball player is the "charley horse" and a waiter sunken arches. The subject offers some fascinating study for I seem to remember that writers—who need their eyes more than most people—lead in opthalmic ailments.

Near sightedness furnished some of the world's best humor. I still think one of the most amusing lines in my time was when the city girl came out to the farm and inquired of her grandmother where her grandfather was. The old lady scanned the acres and replied, "our grandpap is in the barnyard with the mules. I can tell him by his hat."

And speaking of mules and being brought up with them, so to speak in Missouri, I have never seen one in New York, save a trick one at the Hippodrome a number of years ago.

New Bankruptcy Law.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28. — Thanks to new general orders of the United States supreme court and to legislation enacted at the last session of congress the possibility of fraud through bankruptcy proceedings has been greatly minimized. The court orders were issued more than a year ago, but the amendments to the federal bankruptcy act were not passed by congress until last May. The bill, which was signed by President Coolidge on May 27, provided that the amendments should become effective three months after the president's approval of the legislation.

Just what the changes made in the law are expected to accomplish in the way of greater protection to business men from losses caused by dishonest bankruptcies is described in detail in a statement issued by the American Institute of Accountants for the information not only of accountants, but of the business public as well.

The accounts point out that the problem with which congress and business men were confronted was that of continuing in force the humane provisions of the bankruptcy law and at both debtors and creditors.

The need of a bankruptcy law is the same time safeguarding creditors from losses due to abuses of the bankruptcy system. Every effort was made, in drafting the amendments, to conserve the interests of universally recognized in view of the large number of business undertakings that fail because of unavoidable hazards, according to the accountants. However, business men rebelled against the misuse of the law by business crooks who, under the cloak of a statute intended to protect the unfortunate, have succeeded in stealing increasingly large sums by carefully planned fraudulent bankruptcies, and by the concealment of assets. These business criminals brought even the law itself into disrepute.

Business men were faced by the necessity of strengthening the law so as to put a stop to its misuse. They felt that if conditions were not bettered the bankruptcy law would be repealed, and the county again thrown into those chaotic conditions that prevailed under state insolvency laws when there was no national act.

Three Laws Repealed.

There have been four national bankruptcy laws in the United States, the years of their enactment being 1800, 1841, 1867, and 1898. The first three laws were repealed after short trials, principally because of their abuse by the unscrupulous. The fourth law has stood, and until this year has been amended in minor respects only.

This law, however, because of its weaknesses made it possible for business crooks to fleece honest business men. And because it was lacking in its criminal provsiions, many flagrant violators have not been prosecuted, according to the accountants, who in common with the bankers, credit men, attorneys and business men, made studies of bankruptcy conditions extending over several years.

Complaints against the old law petitions in bankruptcy, filed by friendly or fictitious creditors at the request of or on behalf of the debtor; that it did not prevent fraudulent compositions, by which some creditors were preferred over others; that it permitted easy discharges from bankruptcy regardless of flagrant violations of the bankruptcy act; that its criminal provsions were not adequate and there was a lack of prosecution; that there were unwarranted delays in settling estates; and that in many cases the costs of administration were excessive.

It is declared by those interested that nearly all if not all of these defects are corrected by the amendments to the law, and by the new general orders in bankruptcy promulgated by the supreme court.

The new amendments add new acts of bankruptcy and strengthen the definitions of present acts of bankruptcy. They make discharges more difficult for dishonest bankrupts to obtain, and they limit discharges to one in six years, whether voluntary or involuntary. If a bankrupt can be shown to have mutilated, falsified, or concealed any book or record, regardless of the intent of the act, a discharge may be refused, and false financial statements or failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for refusing a discharge. Also the burden is placed upon the bankrupt of proving that he has not committed any of the acts which would act as an obstacle to his discharge if objects are able to show the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing the bankrupt has committed such acts.

Punishment Is Increased.

The new law likewise increases from two to five years the possible term of imprisonment for various offenses against the bankruptcy act, in-

THE WAIL OF A SUFFERING SOUL.

Once upon a time there was presented in a New York theatre a historical drama by a new dramatist—a play so bad that even the critics didn't have the heart next morning to tell the whole truth about it. At the end of the third act, when the suffering audience was writhing in their seats, a stout man who had been patronizing a bootlegger began to utter loud cries. A number of kindly disposed persons took up the chorus and in another minute the misguided playwright had responded to what he thought was a curtain call and was standing before the footlights bowing his appreciation and numbling inarticulate words of thanks.

When the author had withdrawn himself the stout man's companion turned to him angrily.

"What in the world did you mean," demanded the friend, "yelling for 'Author! Author!' like that?"

"I wasn't yelling for him," answered the fat man with much indignation. "I was yelling for ether!"

This law, however, because of its weaknesses made it possible for business crooks to fleece honest business men. And because it was lacking in its criminal provsions, many flagrant violators have not been prosecuted, according to the accountants, who in common with the bankers, credit men, attorneys and business men, made studies of bankruptcy conditions extending over several years.

Complaints against the old law petitions in bankruptcy, filed by friendly or fictitious creditors at the request of or on behalf of the debtor; that it did not prevent fraudulent compositions, by which some creditors were preferred over others; that it permitted easy discharges from bankruptcy regardless of flagrant violations of the bankruptcy act; that its criminal provosions were not adequate and there was a lack of prosecution; that there were unwarranted delays in settling estates; and that in many cases the costs of administration were excessive.

It is declared by those interested that nearly all if not all of these defects are corrected by the amendments to the law, and by the new general orders in bankruptcy promulgated by the supreme court.

The new amendments add new acts of bankruptcy and strengthen the definitions of present acts of bankruptcy. They make discharges more difficult for dishonest bankrupts to obtain, and they limit discharges to one in six years, whether voluntary or involuntary. If a bankrupt can be shown to have mutilated, falsified, or concealed any book or record, regardless of the intent of the act, a discharge may be refused, and false financial statements or failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for failure to account satisfactorily for assets may also be cause for refusing a discharge. Also the burden is placed upon the bankrupt of proving that he has not committed any of the acts which would act as an obstacle to his discharge if objects are able to show the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing the bankrupt has committed such acts.

Punishment Is Increased.

The new law likewise increases from two to five years the possible term of imprisonment for various offenses against the bankruptcy act, in-

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE WAIL OF A SUFFERING SOUL.

Once upon a time there was presented in a New York theatre a historical drama by a new dramatist—a play so bad that even the critics didn't have the heart next morning to tell the whole truth about it. At the end of the third act, when the suffering audience was writhing in their seats, a stout man who had been patronizing a bootlegger began to utter loud cries. A number of kindly disposed persons took up the chorus and in another minute the misguided playwright had responded to what he thought was a curtain call and was standing before the footlights bowing his appreciation and numbling inarticulate words of thanks.

When the author had withdrawn himself the stout man's companion turned to him angrily.

"What in the world did you mean," demanded the friend, "yelling for 'Author! Author!' like that?"

"I wasn't yelling for him," answered the fat man with much indignation. "I was yelling for ether!"

rubber heels for the Buick engine

The Buick Valve-in-Head engine now has "rubber heels".

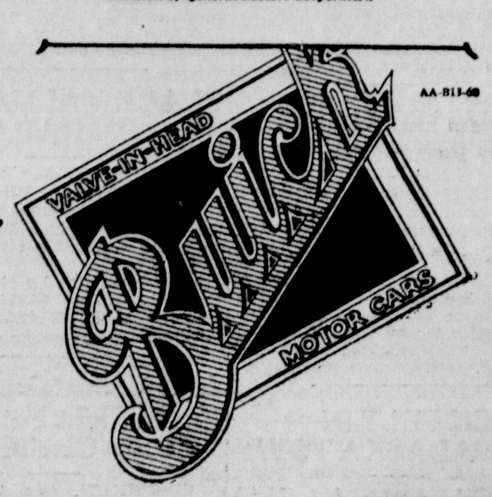

Here is an engine completely insulated and isolated from all metallic contact with its chassis. Thick rubber cushions, fore and aft, absorb noise, and save the engine from road shocks and strains.

Never, in 22 successful years of motor car manufacture has Buick produced a car so far ahead of its field as the 1927 Buick.

Money can buy no finer performance, no matter how much you are willing to spend.

Three fleeing cars were sighted by Dearborn officials three hours after the escape. The Dearborn officers gave chase but the bandits rear car threw up a huge smoke screen which enabled the bandits to escape on their way to Detroit.

Six of the escaped prisoners are armed with revolvers taken from the guards. Four of them are wearing guards' clothes.

Between 500 and 600 men were at liberty when the 25 escaped. The others were shut off from freedom by Deputy Wardens Edward Haight and Frank Leland, aided by guards on the outside walls. The deputies fired several times and quelled the riot without injuring any one.

WITNESSES FEAR FOR THEIR LIVES

Stark County Grand Jury Continues Murder Probe.

CANTON, O., Aug. 28.—Fear that retaliatory bullets, loosened by those now under fire in the Don R. Mellett murder, will bark out sudden death to them, has caused many vital witnesses to attempt to evade appearing before the Stark county grand jury investigating the crime and has prompted others to leave the city, it was learned here today.

One witness who has offered testimony highly valued by the investigators, was caught by detectives about 50 miles from here in the admitted act of "fleeing for safety," investigators admitted.

While authorities would not admit it, it could not be learned whether the actual disappearance of any witnesses caused the recessing of the grand jury last night. The jury is to remain recessed until Monday.

One of the officials declared today that the murder was so closely linked with alleged practices of bribery, vice protection and bootlegging that the transcript of testimony presented to the jury in the murder case might be turned over to another county grand jury or a federal jury, as a basis for other indictments.

decks. His religion is that of repentence—our religion is prosperity. But, as the original Socrates might have said, only Providence knows which of us has the better religion.

AT Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McDonald said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could; cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye," and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't.

THE judges refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow.

Millions in Ireland and other countries will say that the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligenee as regards three-quarters of the sixteen hundred million human beings on earth.

Appealed Case

"only I thought it would be for the best interest of Wellsville."

While Acting Chief Newton was working for the Catlett Furniture store, Mayor Fogo testified that the former located stills when delivering furniture, two of them being in empty houses and one in a private residence.

"Newton gave you the information?" asked the court.

"Hurd got two."

Court Quizzes Witness.

"As mayor you learned about these stills and gambling through others?" came from the court.

"No, from Hurd. Officers got the information.

"Now do you know of any still that was reported to Fultz that he did not get?"

"No."

"Why do you make the charge against Fultz for drinking after you learned that Newton did more drinking than Fultz, and still keep Newton. You made the complaint, now I want to know something about your motive and acts," the court queried.

"I didn't know Newton drank until the hearing."

"You treat him as chief of police since you learned of his drinking?

"He draws his salary as a patrolman."

"You still recognize him as chief, and you still keep him. You have made a great many charges against the chief, you haven't been able to prove, haven't you?" asked the court.

"Sure."

"The evidence in this case has closed," the court remarked with Mr. Fogo still sitting in the witness stand.

Property Records Not Considered.

The effort of counsel for Mr. Fogo to read into the record the realty holdings of Fultz was stopped by the court, to which his counsel took exceptions.

"That doesn't mean anything," the court said "I have in mind a man who has title to $75,000 worth of property and he isn't worth a cent. The personal affairs of Fultz will be ruled out."

The defense closed its case at 2:45 o'clock.

John Floto, former safety director in Wellsville, was the first witness called in rebuttal and was examined by Mr. Crawford. He declared that conditions in Wellsville now were about the same as before.

"Violations?"

"I say there are."

"Know of violation for gambling?" the witness was asked.

"They arrested men for gambling."

"Yes."

R. L. McLean, a Broadway grocer in Wellsville and a councilman-at-large, testified he saw drunks on the street in 1925 and that liquor was also sold in Wellsville in 1925.

"You know places where they sold liquor in 1925?" he was asked.

"I won't answer that," McLean said.

"Why?"

The witness did not respond and the court excused him from the stand.

Charles S. Peters, an oil operator, testified under rebuttal that he had not paid particular attention to violations and thought the town was a bit better now than in 1925.

"You said you paid no attention. If you know anything tell it," put in the court.

"I don't."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—All of the department of the stock market which have shown unusual buoyancy in the last few days, made further progress in the short session of the market today. The railroad stocks moved into a higher level of prices in the first period and were fairly active near the peaks. Rubber and tire stocks, baking stocks and a few of the motor shares completed the active list, the balance of the market being dull and featureless.

The week-end business surveys pointed out that the August records in most lines of business were unusually favorable, while indications were for an active fall and winter season. Emphasis was placed on the heavy volume of freight traffic, the surest indication of a huge business in the country as a whole.

Atchison, New York Central and other well-known railroad stocks led a new forward movement in that section of the market, Atchison exceeding all of its former records when it sold around 152. The railroad equipment stocks also made good progress under the leadership of Pullman and Baldwin, while specialties were inclined to sag under profit taking.

The departure of Mr. Durant on a European trip was without incident in the speculative district, Mr. Durant making it plain that he was still interested in the broad movements of stock prices, though not concerned with the day to day movements.

General Motors and U. S. Steel sold up about a point in fairly active trading, which was featured principally by the absence of professional selling pressure. Oils were not disposed to follow up the moderate gains made near the close of Friday's session. Continental Baking A and B stocks reached new high levels since their listing on the big board and General Asphalt gained 3 points in a fairly large turnover.

The week end commodity and futures markets were steady with prices practically unchanged. Tire, textile and metals markets were reported on the upgrade.

RUM RUNNERS ARE CAPTURED

Speed Boat Overtaken After Exciting Chase.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first of the speed boats being used by rum runners between Long Point, Canada, and Erie to be caught was captured today by Captain Coppin, of the rum chaser CG-142, just off the New York state line after thirty-five rounds of shot had been fired into it.

The captured boat is of the Seabright type and is capable of doing forty miles per hour. The crew of the rum runner, it is said, threw from 50 to 75 cases of Canadian ale into the lake while Coppin was overhauling the craft, but when the boat was brought into the coast guard station here at daylight, a hasty inventory showed she still contained about 150 cases of contraband liquor.

Conquers Channel

She put on a final spurt but when 300 yards from shore it became evident that the tide had definitely turned against her. There was a dramatic moment when those ashore pondered—would she give up or would she spend her last strength in fighting these tides which have defeated so many before her? The American mother chose to fight, and fight she did.

Battled Against Tide.

With determination written on her face she increased her stroke and surged ahead against the tides, only to be swept back almost as fast as she swam. There were moments of high suspense and those on short set up a great cheer to fight her on. Inch by inch Mrs. Corson won her battle against the tides when within a hundred yards of shore her victory was still far from won. On and on she fought, with the out-going tide ever sweeping against her. Eventually her will and brain carried her forward in a great final effort and she made the shore—the victor of one of the most heroic battles against the channel this coast has ever seen.

During her final fight to win the shore Mrs. Corson demonstrated remarkable genius, for she had to resort to careful strategy to win out at the end of her long battle.

Time and again she zig-zagged her course, as she struggled against the terrific outward pull of the tide. It was as much her good strategy as her amazing strength that finally brought her to the shores.

Remarkable Feat.

There can be no quibbling over the achievement of this woman, trainers said, as she came ashore, for they pointed out that at no time during her swim was she ever under any sort of protection. She swam with only a motor-boat accompanying her and at all times this boat was kept clear of the swimmer. She took the channel as she found it and she conquered it.

This was Mrs. Corson's second attempt at the channel. In 1923 it defeated her, but she came this year determined to win and she did.

Mrs. Corson demonstrated her superiority over Perks, the male swimgive up. Mrs. Corson met the tide Perks caught the outgoing tide a mile or more from the shore and had to give up. Mrs. Corson met thhe tide a quarter of a mile from shore and fought it and won, though every stroke she made during the last half hour was a struggle.

Holds Other Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemington Corson, of New York, who swam the English channel today is 27 years old and the mother of two children.

Before her marriage to an American she was Ame Na Gade, a Dane.

Mrs. Corson first came before the public in 1921, when she made the circuit of Manhattan island in 21 hours and fifty-seven minutes. Later she swam from Albany to New York in 63 hours, 35 minutes actual swimming time. The distance is 153 miles.

One previous attempt to swim the English Channel has been made by Mrs. Corson in 1923. She started from the English side, and got within two miles of the French coast in fourteen and a half hours, when she was forced to give up by rough weather.

Her last long swim was from Dover to Ramsgate, which she accomplished in six hours and twenty minutes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemington Corson, who today, negotiated the English channel from Cape Griz Nez to Shakespeare Cliffs, the second woman of all time to perform the feat, was born Millie Gade, in the town of Viello, near Copenhagen, Denmark.

"I used to swim in the harbor," she once said. "When I was still very young. Five miles was the limit at first, but as I grew older I extended it to fifteen, and then twenty. The water was very cold, and it was this training which prepared me so that I did not mind the chill channel waters.

"After my first child was born I feared motherhood had taken my strength, but instead I found that motherhood had given me more endurance. It really makes a woman stronger to have children."

Millie's children are Clem, 4, and Marjorie, 2 1-2. Both children swim well, and their mother is very proud of their ability.

She came to New York in 1919, and in 1921 married Clemington Corson, assistant superintendent of the U. S. S. Illinois which is used by the naval militia as a floating armory.

as to which will prove to be the most "progressive" in getting out the vote. And to get out the vote, every novelty that could be thought up is being put to use. Beginning at 7 o'clock when the polls opened this morning, whistles in all parts of the larger cities began to scream, calling attention to the business of the day. Not to be outdone, the towns of the state resounded with the peal of church bells and other noise makers. The waiting was sounded every half hour, and with some starting later than others, there was an unceasing bedlam in many cities.

Newspapers of the state have predicted a heavy vote today, in spite of the general rain yesterday. Estimates of the probable count ranged form 650,000 to 800,000. The latter was approximate at the first primary, July 24, when Moody lacked only 2,000 votes of having a majority over a field of five candidates, Mrs. Ferguson was runner up and under Texas election laws, the second or run-off primary shall decide between the two leading candidates, if the leader does not obtain a majority in the first.

Nomination Means Election.

Nomination at the run-off virtually means election in the thoroughly Democratic state of Texas.

Before the first primary, "Ma" Ferguson challenged Moody to a wager that if he beat her by one vote, she immediately would resign if the attorney general would resign if she beat him by 25,000. "Ma" failed to resign and failed to withdraw from the race, claiming that Moody did not accept the challenge. Moody claimed he did accept the challenge and "Ma" retaliated with a charge that Moody had polled the large vote frauduently, at an unfair and dishonest election.

she told the story of her romance with Valentino.

"Mr. Valentino proposed to me after he returned from Paris, a free man. There was only one thought in our minds. We looked forward to the time when we could be bound together for eternity," she dictated to Miss Hein in answer to the question of when and where he had proposed to her. "I met him for the first time almost a year ago a ball masque given Miss Marion Davies."

WITNESSES FEAR FOR THEIR LIVES

Stark County Grand Jury Continues Murder Probe.

CANTON, O., Aug. 28.—Fear that retaliatory bullets, loosened by those now under fire in the Don R. Mellett murder, will bark out sudden death to them, has caused many vital witnesses to attempt to evade appearing before the Stark county grand jury investigating the crime and has prompted others to leave the city, it was learned here today.

One witness who has offered testimony highly valued by the investigators, was caught by detectives about 50 miles from here in the admitted act of "fleeing for safety," investigators admitted.

While authorities would not admit it, it could not be learned whether the actual disappearance of any witnesses caused the recessing of the grand jury last night. The jury is to remain recessed until Monday.

One of the officials declared today that the murder was so closely linked with alleged practices of bribery, vice protection and bootlegging that the transcript of testimony presented to the jury in the murder case might be turned over to another county grand jury or a federal jury, as a basis for other indictments.

decks. His religion is that of repentence—our religion is prosperity. But, as the original Socrates might have said, only Providence knows which of us has the better religion.

AT Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McDonald said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could; cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye," and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't.

THE judges refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow.

Millions in Ireland and other countries will say that the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligence as regards three-quarters of the sixteen hundred million human beings on earth.

Donahey is powerless to appoint a special committee of three to hear arguments and explanations on the passage of the proposed anti-primary amendment as requested by A. C. McDonald, mayor of Dayton, according to James Huffman, executive secretary to the governor, today.

Appealed Case

"only I thought it would be for the best interest of Wellsville."

While Acting Chief Newton was working for the Catlett Furniture store, Mayor Fogo testified that the former located stills when delivering furniture, two of them being in empty houses and one in a private residence.

"Newton gave you the information?" asked the court.

"Hurd got two."

Court Quizzes Witness.

"As mayor you learned about these stills and gambling through others?" came from the court.

"No, from Hurd. Officers got the information.

"Now do you know of any still that was reported to Fultz that he did not get?"

"No."

"Why do you make the charge against Fultz for drinking after you learned that Newton did more drinking than Fultz, and still keep Newton. You made the complaint, now I want to know something about your motive and acts," the court queried.

"I didn't know Newton drank until the hearing."

"You treat him as chief of police since you learned of his drinking?

"He draws his salary as a patrolman."

"You still recognize him as chief, and you still keep him. You have made a great many charges against the chief, you haven't been able to prove, haven't you?" asked the court.

"Sure."

"The evidence in this case has closed," the court remarked with Mr. Fogo still sitting in the witness stand.

Property Records Not Considered.

The effort of counsel for Mr. Fogo to read into the record the realty holdings of Fultz was stopped by the court, to which his counsel took exceptions.

"That doesn't mean anything," the court said "I have in mind a man who has title to $75,000 worth of property and he isn't worth a cent. The personal affairs of Fultz will be ruled out."

The defense closed its case at 2:45 o'clock.

John Floto, former safety director in Wellsville, was the first witness called in rebuttal and was examined by Mr. Crawford. He declared that conditions in Wellsville now were about the same as before.

"Violations?"

"I say there are."

"Know of violation for gambling?" the witness was asked.

"They arrested men for gambling."

"In 1925?"

"Yes."

R. L. McLean, a Broadway grocer in Wellsville and a councilman-at-large, testified he saw drunks on the street in 1925 and that liquor was also sold in Wellsville in 1925.

"You know places where they sold liquor in 1925?" he was asked.

"I won't answer that," McLean said.

"Why?"

The witness did not respond and the court excused him from the stand.

Charles S. Peters, an oil operator, testified under rebuttal that he had not paid particular attention to violations and thought the town was a bit better now than in 1925.

"You said you paid no attention. If you know anything tell it," put in the court.

"I don't"

"That's all," counsel remarked.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—All of the department of the stock market which have shown unusual buoyancy in the last few days, made further progress in the short session of the market today. The railroad stocks moved into a higher level of prices in the first period and were fairly active near the peaks. Rubber and tire stocks, baking stocks and a few of the motor shares completed the active list, the balance of the market being dull and featureless.

The week-end business surveys pointed out that the August records in most lines of business were unusually favorable, while indications were for an active fall and winter season. Emphasis was placed on the heavy volume of freight traffic, the surest indication of a huge business in the country as a whole.

Atchison, New York Central and other well-known railroad stocks led a new forward movement in that section of the market, Atchison exceeding all of its former records when it sold around 152. The railroad equipment stocks also made good progress under the leadership of Pullman and Baldwin, while specialties were inclined to sag under profit taking.

The departure of Mr. Durant on a European trip was without incident in the speculative district, Mr. Durant making it plain that he was still interested in the broad movements of stock prices, though not concerned with the day to day movements.

General Motors and U. S. Steel sold up about a point in fairly active trading, which was featured principally by the absence of professional selling pressure. Oils were not disposed to follow up the moderate gains made near the close of Friday's session. Continental Baking A and B stocks reached new high levels since their listing on the big board and General Asphalt gained 3 points in a fairly large turnover.

The week end commodity and futures markets were steady with prices practically unchanged. Tire, textile and metals markets were reported on the upgrade.

RUM RUNNERS ARE CAPTURED

Speed Boat Overtaken After Exciting Chase.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first of the speed boats being used by rum runners between Long Point, Canada, and Erie to be caught was captured today by Captain Coppin, of the rum chaser CG-142, just off the New York state line after thirty-five rounds of shot had been fired into it.

The captured boat is of the Seabright type and is capable of doing forty miles per hour. The crew of the rum runner, it is said, threw from 50 to 75 cases of Canadian ale into the lake while Coppin was overhauling the craft, but when the boat was brought into the coast guard station here at daylight, a hasty inventory showed she still contained about 150 cases of contraband liquor.

Conquers Channel

She put on a final spurt but when 300 yards from shore it became evident that the tide had definitely turned against her. There was a dramatic moment when those ashore pondered—would she give up or would she spend her last strength in fighting these tides which have defeated so many before her? The American mother chose to fight, and fight she did.

Battled Against Tide.

With determination written on her face she increased her stroke and surged ahead against the tides, only to be swept back almost as fast as she swam. There were moments of high suspense and those on short set up a great cheer to fight her on. Inch by inch Mrs. Corson won her battle against the tides when within a hundred yards of shore her victory was still far from won. On and on she fought, with the out-going tide ever sweeping against her. Eventually her will and brain carried her forward in a great final effort and she made the shore—the victor of one of the most heroic battles against the channel this coast has ever seen.

During her final fight to win the shore Mrs. Corson demonstrated remarkable genius, for she had to resort to careful strategy to win out at the end of her long battle.

Time and again she zig-zagged her course, as she struggled against the terrific outward pull of the tide. It was as much her good strategy as her amazing strength that finally brought her to the shores.

Remarkable Feat.

There can be no quibbling over the achievement of this woman, trainers said, as she came ashore, for they pointed out that at no time during her swim was she ever under any sort of protection. She swam with only a motor-boat accompanying her and at all times this boat was kept clear of the swimmer. She took the channel as she found it and she conquered it.

This was Mrs. Corson's second attempt at the channel. In 1923 it defeated her, but she came this year determined to win and she did.

Mrs. Corson demonstrated her superiority over Perks, the male swim-give up. Mrs. Corson met the tide Perks caught the outgoing tide a mile or more from the shore and had to give up. Mrs. Corson met thhe tide a quarter of a mile from shore and fought it and won, though every stroke she made during the last half hour was a struggle.

Holds Other Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemeton Corson, of New York, who swam the English channel today is 27 years old and the mother of two children.

Before her marriage to an American she was Ame Na Gade, a Dane.

Mrs. Corson first came before the public in 1921, when she made the circuit of Manhattan island in 7 hours and fifty-seven minutes. Later she swam from Albany to New York in 63 hours, 35 minutes actual swimming time. The distance is 153 miles.

One previous attempt to swim the English Channel has been made by Mrs. Corson in 1923. She started from the English side, and got within two miles of the French coast in fourteen and a half hours, when she was forced to give up by rough weather.

Her last long swim was from Dover to Ramsgate, which she accomplished in six hours and twenty minutes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clemington Corson, who today, negotiated the English channel from Cape Griz Nez to Shakespeare Cliffs, the second woman of all time to perform the feat, was born Millie Gade, in the town of Viello, near Copenhagen, Denmark.

"I used to swim in the harbor," she once said. "When I was still very young. Five miles was the limit at first, but as I grew older I extended it to fifteen, and then twenty. The water was very cold, and it was this training which prepared me so that I did not mind the chill channel waters.

"After my first child was born I feared motherhood had taken my strength, but instead I found that motherhood had given me more endurance. It really makes a woman stronger to have children."

Millie's children are Clem, 4, and Marjorie, 2 1-2. Both children swim well, and their mother is very proud of their ability.

She came to New York in 1919, and in 1921 married Clemington Corson, assistant superintendent of the U. S. S. Illinois which is used by the naval militia as a floating armory.

as to which will prove to be the most "progressive" in getting out the vote. And to get out the vote, every novelty that could be thought up is being put to use. Beginning at 7 o'clock when the polls opened this morning, whistles in all parts of the larger cities began to scream, calling attention to the business of the day. Not to be outdone, the towns of the state resounded with the peal of church bells and other noise makers. The warning was sounded every half hour, and with some starting later than others, there was an unceasing bedlam in many cities.

Newspapers of the state have predicted a heavy vote today, in spite of the general rain yesterday. Estimates of the probable count ranged form 650,000 to 800,000. The latter was approximate at the first primary, July 24, when Moody lacked only 2,000 votes of having a majority over a field of five candidates, Mrs. Ferguson was runner up and under Texas election laws, the second or run-off primary shall decide between the two leading candidates, if the leader does not obtain a majority in the first.

Nomination Means Election.

Nomination at the run-off virtually means election in the thoroughly Democratic state of Texas.

Before the first primary, 'Ma" Ferguson challenged Moody to a wager that if he beat her by one vote, she immediately would resign if the attorney general would resign if she beat him by 25,000. 'Ma" failed to resign and failed to withdraw from the race, claiming that Moody did not accept the challenge. Moody claimed he did accept the challenge and 'Ma" retaliated with a charge that Moody had polled the large vote frauduently, at an unfair and dishonest election.

she told the story of her romance with Valentino.

"Mr. Valentino proposed to me after he returned from Paris, a free man. There was only one thought in our minds. We looked forward to the time when we could be bound together for eternity," she dictated to Miss Hein in answer to the question of when and where he had proposed to her. "I met him for the first time almost a year ago a ball masque given Miss Marion Davies."

cluding the concealment of asets, and adds several new punishable offenses. Among the latter are the destruction or concealment of records, the concealment of property by officer or agent of bankrupt, the concealment of property from receiver as well as from trustees, and the withholding of records from receiver or trustee. The period of time within which prosecution of offenses may be instituted is extended from one to three years.

Referees must report to United States district attorneys all violations of the bankruptcy act which come to their attention; provision is made for the payment of the expenses of creditors who successfully oppose confirmation of compositions; delays in adjudications and settlements of estates caused by the offering of settlements in compositions are prohibited; communications between creditors, and between creditors and referees and trustees, are made privileged and not subjected to action for slander or libel, if made in good faith; the time limit for proving claims is reduced from one year to six months after adjudication; and priority is given to the payment of wages over the payment of taxes, for the first time in bankruptcy legislation.

The new general orders in bankruptcy issued by the United States supreme court are intended, it is explained, to prevent the assignment of claims by creditors to other creditors or to attorneys except for a real consideration; the solicitation on claims by receivers or their attorneys; the incurring of excessive fees for receivers; private agreements relative to compositions in which some creditors have waised participation; excessive fees of attorneys and trustees and the "splitting" of fees; the granting of allowances from estates without notice to creditors; the payment of attorney's fees in cases in which collusion appears; the multiplicity of cousel; the employment by receivers or trustees of attorneys employed by or connected with the bankrupt; and indeterminate fees for auctioneers, accountants and appraisers.

In addition to the modifications of the bankruptcy law and the new court procedure which will tend to make it hard for the dishonest bankrupt, the National Association of Credit Men is camping on his trail. That organization has created a protective fund of $1,500,000 for the investigation of alleged credit and bankruptcy frauds and for the prosecution of offenders.

Faulty Brakes built this monument

So many drivers met with disaster on a long, steep hill near Pottsville, Pa., that the authorities erected this monument as a warning.

Don't take chances with the brakes. Hospitals are filled with people who do. Cheap brake lining will "burn out" on a steep grade; lining not correctly applied is apt to fail at any minute. The brakes on your car deserve attention. They are your one factor of safety.

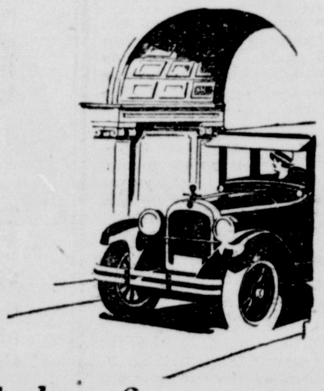

Our specialized brake knowledge, plus modern brake practice gives to you a brake service that may save life, accident and expense. We use genuine Silver Edge Raybestos and apply it by the Raybestos Method which means that you will be safe on sharp grades, long hills and in crowded traffic.

cluding the concealment of asets, and adds several new punishable offenses. Among the latter are the destruction or concealment of records, the concealment of property by officer or agent of bankrupt, the concealment of property from receiver as well as from trustees, and the withholding of records from receiver or trustee. The period of time within which prosecution of offenses may be instituted is extended from one to three years.

Referees must report to United States district attorneys all violations of the bankruptcy act which come to their attention; provision is made for the payment of the expenses of creditors who successfully oppose confirmation of compositions; delays in adjudications and settlements of estates caused by the offering of settlements in compositions are prohibited; communications between creditors, and between creditors and referees and trustees, are made privileged and not subjected to action for slander or libel, if made in good faith; the time limit for proving claims is reduced from one year to six months after adjudication; and priority is given to the payment of wages over the payment of taxes, for the first time in bankruptcy legislation.

The new general orders in bankruptcy issued by the United States supreme court are intended, it is explained, to prevent the assignment of claims by creditors to other creditors or to attorneys except for a real consideration; the solicitation on claims by receivers or their attorneys; the incurring of excessive fees for receivers; private agreements relative to compositions in which some creditors have waised participation; excessive fees of attorneys and trustees and the "splitting" of fees; the granting of allowances from estates without notice to creditors; the payment of attorney's fees in cases in which collusion appears; the multiplicity of cousel; the employment by receivers or trustees of attorneys employed by or connected with the bankrupt; and indeterminate fees for auctioneers, accountants and appraisers.

In addition to the modifications of the bankruptcy law and the new court procedure which will tend to make it hard for the dishonest bankrupt, the National Association of Credit Men is camping on his trail. That organization has created a protective fund of $1,500,000 for the investigation of alleged credit and bankruptcy frauds and for the prosecution of offenders.

Faulty Brakes built this monument

So many drivers met with disaster on a long, steep hill near Pottsville, Pa., that the authorities erected this monument as a warning.

Don't take chances with the brakes. Hospitals are filled with people who do. Cheap brake lining will "burn out" on a steep grade; lining not correctly applied is apt to fail at any minute. The brakes on your car deserve attention. They are your one factor of safety.

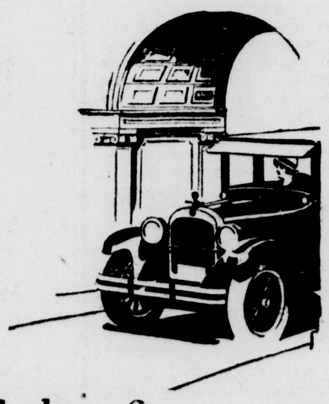

Our specialized brake knowledge, plus modern brake practice gives to you a brake service that may save life, accident and expense. We use genuine Silver Edge Raybestos and apply it by the Raybestos Method which means that you will be safe on sharp grades, long hills and in crowded traffic.

BIG SPECTACLE AT STATE FAIR

'The Wonderer' Musical Play to be Given Nightly.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Final rehearsals for "The Wonderer," the musical extravaganza to be staged nightly during State Fair Week, starting next Monday, have been in progress under the supervision of Chas. V. Truax, director of agriculture. It is arrested that this spectacle will be the most elaborate outdoor production ever staged in this country.

A cast of 2,000 people will have part in the production, which will be staged from the oval facing the racetrack grand stands. Here 12,000 seats will be made available.

"The Wonderer" is an allegorical story of the rise of mankind, and carries the picture by music and action from the Creation through the various periods of civilization to the present time and then projects man into a period 50 years hence. The story is supported by elaborate lighting effects, a chorus of 350 voices and a band of 150 pieces which will carry the orchestration for the spectacle.

This feature of State Fair, according to officials, will be quite the outstanding entertainment event of the week. The various episodes have been in rehearsal for several weeks and the work of preparing the enormous stages and incidental equipment is just now being rushed to completion.

Under the supervision of Director Truax, the staging and costume designing is being executed by the Emilie Sullivan studios; stage settings are in charge of H. L. Sherman, assistant instructor in the Fine Arts Department of Ohio State University; ballets are being directed by Jorg Fasting; the chorus is under the direction of Karl Hoenig; the band instrumentation is being managed by J. W. Wainwright of Fostoria, and the stage manager is George H. Hoskyn, of Chicago.

"BIG PARADE" HAS NUMEROUS STARS

Going back as far as the famed "Tillie's Punctured Romance," there has never been a picture which created so many stars as "The Big Parade" the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which a road show company will put on view at the Ceramic theatre for three days starting Thursday, Sept. 23.

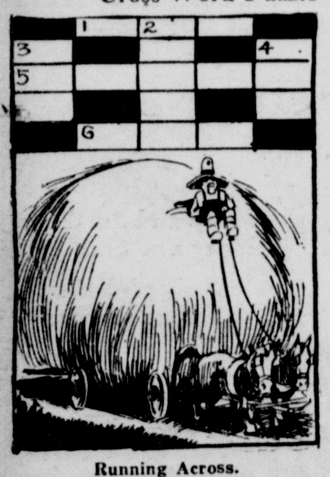

The people who reached the zenith of recognition with the appearance of "The Big Parade" include King Vidor revealed at last as a master director; John Gilbert, long popular but made famous by his work in this picture; Renee Adoree who hit home for the first time as the heroine; Karl Dane never will be forgotten as the champion spitter of the Army; Tom O'Brien and Clair McDowell. "The Big Parade" has gained a new public for motion pictures as there have been thousands of people who viewed it who were not picture fans but immediately recognized the great advance that has been made in that form of entertainments and now go regularly to the films.

Australia now has 110,000 licensed radio sets.

One Big Difference In Car Values

The Home of Friendly Service

ONE of the big outstanding differences in car values today is in the measure of local responsibility delivered to the owner with the car.

All cars show changes and improvements from time to time, but as heretofore, the basis of satisfaction in automobile ownership lies in the responsibility of the local dealer for the car he sells.

The recognized merit of the Stutz and Peerless lines have made it a pleasure rather than a task for us to assume that responsibility here in East Liverpool.

One Big Difference In Car Values

The Home of Friendly Service

ONE of the big outstanding differences in car values today is in the measure of local responsibility delivered to the owner with the car.

All cars show changes and improvements from time to time, but as heretofore, the basis of satisfaction in automobile ownership lies in the responsibility of the local dealer for the car he sells.

The recognized merit of the Stutz and Peerless lines have made it a pleasure rather than a task for us to assume that responsibility here in East Liverpool.

Turk-Nash And Victory Motors Clash To 3-3 Tie At Klondyke

Pitcher Makes Brilliant Attempt to Purloin Run And is Nabbed by Inches; First Frame Puts Mundy Outfit in Running.

VICTORY Motor and Turk-Nash, clashing on the former's field at Klondyke, battled to a standoff in a fast City Industrial league game last evening, each team scoring three runs during the six innings of play, Umpire Dave Lindsay calling the clash on account of darkness.

Turk-Nash started with a rush, making one run in the first which was overcome by three that the Motors made in the same period. The latter held the lead until the sixth, when, following a run procured in the third, Turk-Nash scored another and evened the count.

The count was 3-2 when Turk-Nash went to bat in the final frame. D. Morgan, first up, dropped a high fly too far back for J. Strobel and too far away for Sainor to land. E. Mundy went out, V. Bailey to S. Coleman, putting Morgan on second. J. Watson held him there as he flew to J. Strobel. Then, with two strikes on him, R. Pollock poled the ball into deep left, where it was momentarily lost, scoring Morgan and evening the count. A few seconds later Pollock, with Eddie Bayley at the bat, tore down the home plate path. He all but made the circuit, but Robinson tabbed him for the third out.

The play was a daring move on the part of Pollock and came within inches of being successful.

Motors Score Three.

Turk-Nash proceeded to keep the game a tie from that point on, Victory Motors going out in order in their half of the sixth. Sainor flew to Talbott and Robinson and H. Strobel were retired at first.

Bunching of two hits with an error and a pass, together with the failure to complete a double play in the first inning cost Turk-Nash three runs. Thereafter Pollock blanked his opponents in order, except in the fifth when Baker opened with a single over second. Eight men batted against him in the first frame, but only 18 in the last five. Barring a couple of miscues in the first by Morgan, he was given faultless support. Incidentally he drove in the tying run.

The youthful Baker occupied the hilltop for Victory Motor, and he gamely southpawed his way through the contest. He allowed nine hits, but kept them well scattered and tightened effectively in the pinches. J. Strobel accepted seven of eight chances and V. Bailey five in the almost perfect support accorded him. J. Strobel retired the side by a fine catch off E. Bayley's bat in the second, H. Strobel doing likewise in the third off D. Morgan and V. Bailey repeating the act in the fifth by running into the crowd and grabbing a foul.

Despite his bad start Morgan made four hard stops in later stages of the engagement.

Club Standing Unchanged.

Eddie Bayley, gobbling up five chances at second, performed brilliantly. First Baseman Talbott led both clubs with the stick, getting a double and single in two times up.

Because of the tie the standing of the clubs remains unchanged because the Wellsville diamond was not in condition for the scheduled game with Chester, as a result of Saturday's heavy rains.

E. Bayley doubled to left in the first. Alcock singled through short. A. Bayley drove to C. Coleman, who relayed to Robinson and he to V. Bailey, who tabbed him out. Schneidmiller sent a hard fly to C. Strobel on which Alcock reached third from where he counted on McConnell's single to left. The latter, however was caught stretching the blow into a double, H. Strobel to J. Strobel.

D. Morgan booted J. Strobel's drive in the second half of the first. S. Coleman, after repeated fouls, singled to left. C. Coleman flew to J. Watson. Sainor walked, filling the bases. Robinson singled to left, scoring J. Strobel and S. Coleman. H. Strobel drove to E. Bayley, who started a potential double play by assisting to J. Watson, who stepped on second, retiring Robinson, but his throw to Alcock to nip the left gardener was low, enabling him to reach first safely as Sainor crossed the plate. V. Bailey was safe also on D. Morgan's error, but C. Strobel went out, R. Pollock to Alcock.

Talbott, doubling to deep middle in the third scored on A. Bayley's double to middle. The latter was forced by Schneidmiller, J. Strobel to V. Bailey. McConnell and D. Morgan flew to Sainor and H. Strobel respectively.

Single G Will Race Exhibition Mile At Canfield Fair Sept. 4

Performance of Famous Old Turf Warrior to Feature Annual Track Meeting.

SINGLE G., greatest pacer of all time, equine hero of countless battles that have provided thrills galore for turfdom's great horde of esthusiasts, will give eastern Ohio fans some of the sensations that have been absorbed by the harness racing world during the past 16 years, when he sets his hoofs upon the Canfield Fair track on Saturday, September 4 in an exhibition mile pace against time.

The fame of Single G is not local by any means. He is almost a national institution and Columbiana county doubtless will contribute its quota of track fans to the general gathering when he appears at Canfield.

The exhibition has been arranged through the efforts of L. B. McKelvey, chairman of the Canfield race committee, who arranged with W. G. Barefoot, owner of the famous campaigner, for the Single G's appearance at the fair as a feature of the biggest two days' of racing ever arranged for the annual exhibit.

The veteran pacer made his debut at North Randall Monday and although he was nosed out by the younger generation of fleet footed racing gentry the gallant old warrior showed that he had not lost a great deal of the speed that has kept him in the public eye for years.

The largest crowd that ever attended a race meet at Canfield is expected as the result of the booking of Single G.

GOLDEN HARVEST MOON BEAMS FOR TRUDY

JACK POLISHES UP ON DEFENSE

Decides He Needs it After Friday's Workout.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey arrived at the conclusion today that what he really needs is a lot more of this defensive practice. The thought came after mulling over what happened to him Friday when he told the boys:

"Don't be afraid of me today. Tear in and let go. I won't sock you hard. I want to see how good I am at blocking your punches or in getting away from them."

On this particular day and date, Dempsey's memory refreshes him on the point that he wasn't much good at it at all. Six sparring partners took shots at his chin and his body and six sparring partners hit with almost everything they tossed in his general direction.

"And so," quoth Dempsey today, "I will hereafter practice a bit more in this ducking and dodging stuff. I never figured I needed much of a defense in any battle of my career. I think a mighty offensive is the best defense. And I feel that I can take anything Tunney can hand out without pausing to think it over. But there's no use of my being hit if I can avoid it by practicing defense. So I'm going to let the boys drive at me oftener than they have in the past and get the knack of getting out of the way down to a fine point."

Two Argentine heavyweights were scheduled to arrive during the day.

Wellsville League Tossers in Action At Sherwood Sunday

The Wellsville-Sherwood game, originally billed last Sunday at Sherwood, will be played tomorrow afternoon, officials of the club announced today.

Manager Roy Nicholson, of the Wellsville City league aggregation, has notified the Sherwood management that his club will present a strong lineup for the fray.

Tickets issued last Sunday will be good for tomorrow's game

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Tony Lazzeri chose an opportune time to hit his seventeenth homer of the season, scoring two runs besides his own, and going a great deal toward accomplishing a 4 to 1 victory for the Yanks over the Tigers.

Pitcher Sherrod Smith's home run in the twelfth won the second game of a double header for Cleveland from the Red Sox, 5 to 4. The Indians walked away with the first game, 9 to 3.

The Cardinals lost their second straight to Philadelphia, 9 to 7, dimming slightly their pennant chances. Bentley got a home run, double and a single.

A ninth inning rally by the Senators, netting two, failed to save Washington from losing the third straight game to the White Sox. The score was 5 to 3.

Bullet Joe Bush did some tall pitching and no mean hitting, and held the Giants to four hits. Pittsburgh won, 4 to 0, but it was a stiff pitchers' battle except in the seventh inning, where the Pirates scored all their runs.

The Reds advanced to second place in the National league, only four points behind the Pirates, by sailing into the Dodgers to win a shut-out game, 4 to 0.

The Browns were treated to a new sensation at Shibe park, Philadelphia, yesterday, by licking the Athletics, 7 to 1. Although St. Louis team has played ten series at Philadelphia, this was the first time they had won this season.

Steady pitching by Tony Kaufman allowed the Cubs to run their winning streak to six. Tony held the braves to five hits, enabling Chicago to win 5 to 1.

YOUNG CHAMP TRAPSHOOTER

Springfield Veteran Shoots Perfect Score to Win.

He had to shoot a perfect score of 100 to win the event, with three others on his heels, with 99's and ten finishing with 98.

A. C. Johnson, of Cable, Ohio, won second place after a shoot-off.

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you try to so hit the ball with a brassie or spoon that the ball will be sure to rise you probably will make a poor shot. Let the clubhead make the ball rise which it will do if you merely swing the clubhead thru the ball. When the ball is in a slight depression in the fairway or on very thin grass you can aid the clubhead some by aiming to hit immediately back of the ball. This calls for very careful play, however, and unless you are very much the master of your swing your better choice invariably will be to take an iron. You may not make the full distance but you usually will get more distance off the iron than will result from a poor brassie shot. When you try to help the club get the ball up you invariably finish on the right leg with all the weight back, the surest way not to get the ball up. Learn to depend upon your clubs.

Fourteen-Hour Swim Will Net Her Fortune

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Being duly presented with the key to the city was all very well yesterday, and quite a gracious gesture, at that, but with calm reflection it came to Gertrude Ederle this morning the knowledge that it wasn't a key that would open any banks, nor would it lock the family door against the wolf.

However, I don't believe the lady will need that kind of a key, now or forever henceforth. Trudy will be wealthy in her own right by Christmas.

The harvest moon, in fact, is about to come to the full and soon will be casting its golden flow over her left shoulder. This is the same moon that shed its rays in such profusion about the hallowed figure of Harold "Red" Grange last fall.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts, say the philosophers, but they didn't say anything about agents, bearing contracts. The line was beginning to form on the left today.

The chances are that by the time Trudy finishes signing documents, she will have tied herself up with at least $150,000 that will be hers before the first of the year, while her total earnings for the next twelve months probably won't be less than a quarter of a million. That's almost enough to take her father away from his butchers' block and buy him a ringside seat in the Chicago stock yards.

Vaudeville Tour Arranged.

As I understand it, Trudy will sign up for a vaudeville tour that may carry through six months. She probably will play New York houses for ten weeks at $3,000 a week and then will go on the road at $2,000 a week. This venture alone will net her more than $40,000.

When it is over, it will be about time for her to start following the climate with a series of well-paid exhibitions. She could and probably will go to California, earn that $25,000 they want to give her for swimming to Catalina Island then swing back thru New Orleans and the south, giving exhibitions wherever they have the fancy to pay her. Florida should provide a happy hunting ground in this connection.

Writes Swimming Articles.

Another source of steady income will be furnished by the magazines and newspapers. Trudy already has arranged to get top prices from a national magazine for a series of articles on swimming and I understand that agents of similar publications are cluttering up her doorstep. The magazine racket should net her $25,000 in a reasonable short time. Syndicated newspaper articles probably will bring in $5,000 more.

And then those dear, advertising testimonials! All she has to say is that she owes her success in life to rubber heels, hair nets, vanity cases, fly swatters and eating soup with a fork. Before her name dries on the dotted line, she will have thousands of dollars poured in her lap.

She won't get all of it, however.

Local Jeweler Shows "Fighting Muskie" He Landed in Ontario

James J. Reese, Sixth street jeweler, is proudly exhibiting the mounted "fighting muskie" which he snared in a battle at Trout Lake, Ontario, July 10.

Reese and John Golden, of this city, were trolling on Trout lake only a short time after their arrival there on a camping trip. They had been out only 20 minutes when the strike came, Reese says. The "tiger" broke water seven times in its fight to dislodge the hook.

After close to an hour's maneouvering, the fish was brought close enough to the boat to gaff. Golden managed to get the hook in his gill, but one ferocious swish of his powerful body broke the three-foot wooden handle like it was a match.

But Reese hung on and later managed to bring his catch into shallow water, then dragged it out on shore and dispatched it with a club. The fish is a perfect specimen of the fighting muskie and is beautifully mounted.

The muskie was 45 inches long, with a girth measurement of 22 1-2 inches and weighed 34 pounds.

Dudley Field Malone cuts twenty-five per cent, I believe, which isn't bad at all, considering the fact that Dudley didn't swim any channel and wouldn't if he could.

Turk-Nash And Victory Motors Clash To 3-3 Tie At Klondyke

Pollock Tries Steal In Sixth To Win But Is Caught At Plate

Pitcher Makes Brilliant Attempt to Purloin Run And is Nabbed by Inches; First Frame Puts Mundy Outfit in Running.

VICTORY Motor and Turk-Nash, clashing on the former's field at Klondyke, battled to a standoff in a fast City Industrial league game last evening, each team scoring three runs during the six innings of play, Umpire Dave Lindsay calling the clash on account of darkness.

Turk-Nash started with a rush, making one run in the first which was overcome by three that the Motors made in the same period. The latter held the lead until the sixth, when, following a run procured in the third, Turk-Nash scored another and evened the count.

The count was 3-2 when Turk-Nash went to bat in the final frame. D. Morgan, first up, dropped a high fly too far back for J. Strobel and too far away for Sainor to land. E. Mundy went out, V. Bailey to S. Coleman, putting Morgan on second. J. Watson held him there as he flew to J. Strobel. Then, with two strikes on him, R. Pollock poled the ball into deep left, where it was momentarily lost, scoring Morgan and evening the count. A few seconds later Pollock, with Eddie Bayley at the bat, tore down the home plate path. He all but made the circuit, but Robinson tabbed him for the third out.

The play was a daring move on the part of Pollock and came within inches of being successful.

Motors Score Three.

Turk-Nash proceeded to keep the game a tie from that point on, Victory Motors going out in order in their half of the sixth. Sainor flew to Talbott and Robinson and H. Strobel were retired at first.

Bunching of two hits with an error and a pass, together with the failure to complete a double play in the first inning cost Turk-Nash three runs. Thereafter Pollock blanked his opponents in order, except in the fifth when Baker opened with a single over second. Eight men batted against him in the first frame, but only 18 in the last five. Barring a couple of miscues in the first by Morgan, he was given faultless support. Incidentally he drove in the tying run.

The youthful Baker occupied the hilltop for Victory Motor, and he gamely southpawed his way through the contest. He allowed nine hits, but kept them well scattered and tightened effectively in the pinches. J. Strobel accepted seven of eight chances and V. Bailey five in the almost perfect support accorded him. J. Strobel retired the side by a fine catch off E. Bayley's bat in the second, H. Strobel doing likewise in the third off D. Morgan and V. Bailey repeating the act in the fifth by running into the crowd and grabbing a foul.

Despite his bad start Morgan made four hard stops in later stages of the engagement.

Club Standing Unchanged.

Eddie Bayley, gobbling up five chances at second, performed brilliantly. First Baseman Talbott led both clubs with the stick, getting a double and single in two times up.

Because of the tie the standing of the clubs remains unchanged because the Wellsville diamond was not in condition for the scheduled game with Chester, as a result of Saturday's heavy rains.

E. Bayley doubled to left in the first. Alcock singled through short. A. Bayley drove to C. Coleman, who relayed to Robinson and he to V. Bailey, who tabbed him out. Schneidmiller sent a hard fly to C. Strobel on which Alcock reached third from where he counted on McConnell's single to left. The latter, however was caught stretching the blow into a double, H. Strobel to J. Strobel.

D. Morgan booted J. Strobel's drive in the second half of the first. S. Coleman, after repeated fouls, singled to left. C. Coleman flew to J. Watson. Sainor walked, filling the bases. Robinson singled to left, scoring J. Strobel and S. Coleman. H. Strobel drove to E. Bayley, who started a potential double play by assisting to J. Watson, who stepped on second, retiring Robinson, but his throw to Alcock to nip the left gardener was low, enabling him to reach first safely as Sainor crossed the plate. V. Bailey was safe also on D. Morgan's error, but C. Strobel went out, R. Pollock to Alcock.

Talbott, doubling to deep middle in the third scored on A. Bayley's double to middle. The latter was forced by Schneidmiller, J. Strobel to V. Bailey. McConnell and D. Morgan flew to Sainor and H. Strobel respectively.

GOLDEN HARVEST MOON BEAMS FOR TRUDY

JACK POLISHES UP ON DEFENSE

Decides He Needs it After Friday's Workout.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey arrived at the conclusion today that what he really needs is a lot more of this defensive practice. The thought came after mulling over what happened to him Friday when he told the boys:

"Don't be afraid of me today. Tear in and let go. I won't sock you hard. I want to see how good I am at blocking your punches or in getting away from them."

On this particular day and date, Dempsey's memory refreshes him on the point that he wasn't much good at it at all. Six sparring partners took shots at his chin and his body and six sparring partners hit with almost everything they tossed in his general direction.

"And so," quoth Dempsey today, "I will hereafter practice a bit more in this ducking and dodging stuff. I never figured I needed much of a defense in any battle of my career. I think a mighty offensive is the best defense. And I feel that I can take anything Tunney can hand out without pausing to think it over. But there's no use of my being hit if I can avoid it by practicing defense. So I'm going to let the boys drive at me oftener than they have in the past and get the knack of getting out of the way down to a fine point."

Two Argentine heavyweights were scheduled to arrive during the day.

Wellsville League Tossers in Action At Sherwood Sunday

The Wellsville-Sherwood game, originally billed last Sunday at Sherwood, will be played tomorrow afternoon, officials of the club announced today.

Manager Roy Nicholson, of the Wellsville City league aggregation, has notified the Sherwood management that his club will present a strong lineup for the fray.

Tickets issued last Sunday will be good for tomorrow's game

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Tony Lazzeri chose an opportune time to hit his seventeenth homer of the season, scoring two runs besides his own, and going a great deal toward accomplishing a 4 to 1 victory for the Yanks over the Tigers.

Pitcher Sherrod Smith's home run in the twelfth won the second game of a double header for Cleveland from the Red Sox, 5 to 4. The Indians walked away with the first game, 9 to 3.

The Cardinals lost their second straight to Philadelphia, 9 to 7, dimming slightly their pennant chances. Bentley got a home run, double and a single.

A ninth inning rally by the Senators, netting two, failed to save Washington from losing the third straight game to the White Sox. The score was 5 to 3.

Bullet Joe Bush did some tall pitching and no mean hitting, and held the Giants to four hits. Pittsburgh won, 4 to 0, but it was a stiff pitchers' battle except in the seventh inning, where the Pirates scored all their runs.

The Reds advanced to second place in the National league, only four points behind the Pirates, by sailing into the Dodgers to win a shut-out game, 4 to 0.

The Browns were treated to a new sensation at Shibe park, Philadelphia, yesterday, by licking the Athletics, 7 to 1. Although St. Louis team has played ten series at Philadelphia, this was the first time they had won this season.

Steady pitching by Tony Kaufman allowed the Cubs to run their winning streak to six. Tony held the braves to five hits, enabling Chicago to win 5 to 1.

YOUNG CHAMP TRAPSHOOTER

Springfield Veteran Shoots Perfect Score to Win.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 28—After competing in every grand American handicap since its inception in 1900, Charles A. Young, veteran Springfield, Ohio, shooter, stands today as the 1926 champion of all trapshooters.

He had to shoot a perfect score of 100 to win the event, with three others on his heels, with 99's and ten finishing with 98.

A. C. Johnson, of Cable, Ohio, won second place after a shoot-off.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you try to so hit the ball with a brassie or spoon that the ball will be sure to rise you probably will make a poor shot. Let the clubhead make the ball rise which it will do if you merely swing the clubhead thru the ball. When the ball is in a slight depression in the fairway or on very thin grass you can aid the clubhead some by aiming to hit immediately back of the ball. This calls for very careful play, however, and unless you are very much the master of your swing your better choice invariably will be to take an iron. You may not make the full distance but you usually will get more distance off the iron than will result from a poor brassie shot. When you try to help the club get the ball up you invariably finish on the right leg with all the weight back, the surest way not to get the ball up. Learn to depend upon your clubs.

Fourteen-Hour Swim Will Net Her Fortune

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Being duly presented with the key to the city was all very well yesterday, and quite a gracious gesture, at that, but with calm reflection it came to Gertrude Ederle this morning the knowledge that it wasn't a key that would open any banks, nor would it lock the family door against the wolf.

However, I don't believe the lady will need that kind of a key, now or forever henceforth. Trudy will be wealthy in her own right by Christmas.

The harvest moon, in fact, is about to come to the full and soon will be casting its golden flow over her left shoulder. This is the same moon that shed its rays in such profusion about the hallowed figure of Harold "Red" Grange last fall.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts, say the philosophers, but they didn't say anything about agents, bearing contracts. The line was beginning to form on the left today.

The chances are that by the time Trudy finishes signing documents, she will have tied herself up with at least $150,000 that will be hers before the first of the year, while her total earnings for the next twelve months probably won't be less than a quarter of a million. That's almost enough to take her father away from his butchers' block and buy him a ringside seat in the Chicago stock yards.

Vaudeville Tour Arranged.

As I understand it, Trudy will sign up for a vaudeville tour that may carry through six months. She probably will play New York houses for ten weeks at $3,000 a week and then will go on the road at $2,000 a week. This venture alone will net her more than $40,000.

Single G Will Race Exhibition Mile At Canfield Fair Sept. 4

Performance of Famous Old Turf Warrior to Feature Annual Track Meeting.

SINGLE G., greatest pacer of all time, equine hero of countless battles that have provided thrills galore for turfdom's great horde of esthusiasts, will give eastern Ohio fans some of the sensations that have been absorbed by the harness racing world during the past 16 years, when he sets his hoofs upon the Canfield Fair track on Saturday, September 4 in an exhibition mile pace against time.

The fame of Single G is not local by any means. He is almost a national institution and Columbiana county doubtless will contribute its quota of track fans to the general gathering when he appears at Canfield.

The exhibition has been arranged through the efforts of L. B. McKelvey, chairman of the Canfield race committee, who arranged with W. G. Barefoot, owner of the famous campaigner, for the Single G's appearance at the fair as a feature of the biggest two days' of racing ever arranged for the annual exhibit.

The veteran pacer made his debut at North Randall Monday and although he was nosed out by the younger generation of fleet footed racing gentry the gallant old warrior showed that he had not lost a great deal of the speed that has kept him in the public eye for years.

The largest crowd that ever attended a race meet at Canfield is expected as the result of the booking of Single G.

NEW FEATURES ON CHEVROLET

Local Dealers Display "Smoothest Chevrolet" Here.

New features and mechanical refinements adding still further to ease of operation and driving comfort, and striking new Duco colors characterize the "Smoothest Chevrolet" just announced by Trotter-Chevrolet Co.

A motor even more remarkable for smoothness of operation and new colors that reflect the latest and most harmonious blending of smart lines and artistic hues are revealed in this car. The new features are announced in the middle of the greatest sales year in Chevrolet history.

Among the more important new features included are the following: A new cross member, strengthening the motor support at the transmission housing, thus still further reducing vibration and at the same time adding greater ruggedness to frame and chassis; a re-designed cam shaft with cams scientifically rounded to eliminate noise; gas and spark controls mounted with horn button on top of the steering column, affording not only easier control in driving but also giving a more artistic appearance; an improved universal joint with trunnions operating in separate bushings to give longer wear and to afford easier access; a new battery and battery support, and a more sturdy tie-rod between the front fenders which permits a more rigid support of the headlights and their better focusing.

A notable feature is the ingenious stop-light switch which has no wire attached to the brake pedal and no pull-back spring on the switch, thereby eliminating a frequent source of annoyance of failure to function properly. The new switch is of non-arcing, lever type and is operated by the brake rod.

The new battery is equipped with a solid rubber case and has the handles built in as part of the case, thus eliminating metal handles which are subject to corrosion. The new type carrier holds the battery in such a way as to eliminate any strains on the battery case and the consequent liability of breakage.

New, brilliant and striking combinations of colors in Duco appear on all the models. The sedan is finished in Algerian blue; the coach in Thebes gray; the landau in Alpine green; the coupe in Dundee gray; while all open models are finished in Biscay green.

All models have a rear view mirror and there is a handy pocket in right front door of closed cars as standard equipment. The landau, sedan and coupe are equipped with disc wheels. Balloon tires are standard equipment on all closed models. The wood wheels on the coach, touring and roadster are now finished in Duco.

So prosperous have become natives of Sumatra, through the soaring rubber prices, that they are buying many automobiles of American make.

MIDLAND STARTS DRIVE AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS

Six Places Raided in Clean-up Campaign.

BOOZE FOUND

Proprietor of Gambling House Draws $100 Fine.

Midland police have launched a campaign against bootlegging and gambling places in the town. During the past few days a number of raids have been conducted.

At the home of Mrs. Mary Rich, the officers say, they found 65 quarts of beer and one and one-half gallons of wine. The raiding party, which consisted of Sergeants Kellar and Stett, Patrolman McKee and Moore, next visited the home of Mrs. Christina Bekove, Woodlane, where they say they found 44 quarts of beer and a pint of moonshine.

The homes of Cesare Camaioni in Penn avenue was the next place raided. Here the officers alleged they found 200 gallons of bottled beer and 50 gallons in kegs, 150 gallons of wine, part in jugs and part in barrels. The liquor was all destroyed.

Mike Kukuch, of Ohio avenue, was fined $100 and costs for having in his possession two quarts of moonshine and four quarts of wine.

At a house in Midland avenue the officers found a small quantity of moonshine and two barrels of raisin mash. The proprietor, Voyo Ducklich, was charged with running a disorderly house and with the possession of intoxicating liquor.

A short time later a gambling place in Penn avenue was raided and the proprietor, Jesse Hodges, negro, better known as "Tree Top," arrested and taken before Justice Kennedy, where he was fined $100 and costs. Six other persons, patrons, of the place, were fined $10 and costs for visiting a disorderly house.

NEW FEATURES ON CHEVROLET

Local Dealers Display "Smoothest Chevrolet" Here.

New features and mechanical refinements adding still further to ease of operation and driving comfort, and striking new Duco colors characterize the "Smoothest Chevrolet" just announced by Trotter-Chevrolet Co.

A motor even more remarkable for smoothness of operation and new colors that reflect the latest and most harmonious blending of smart lines and artistic hues are revealed in this car. The new features are announced in the middle of the greatest sales year in Chevrolet history.

Among the more important new features included are the following: A new cross member, strengthening the motor support at the transmission housing, thus still further reducing vibration and at the same time adding greater ruggedness to frame and chassis; a re-designed cam shaft with cams scientifically rounded to eliminate noise; gas and spark controls mounted with horn button on top of the steering column, affording not only easier control in driving but also giving a more artistic appearance; an improved universal joint with trunnions operating in separate bushings to give longer wear and to afford easier access; a new battery and battery support, and a more sturdy tie-rod between the front fenders which permits a more rigid support of the headlights and their better focusing.

A notable feature is the ingenious stop-light switch which has no wire attached to the brake pedal and no pull-back spring on the switch, thereby eliminating a frequent source of annoyance of failure to function properly. The new switch is of non-arcing, lever type and is operated by the brake rod.

The new battery is equipped with a solid rubber case and has the handles built in as part of the case, thus eliminating metal handles which are subject to corrosion. The new type carrier holds the battery in such a way as to eliminate any strains on the battery case and the consequent liability of breakage.

New, brilliant and striking combinations of colors in Duco appear on all the models. The sedan is finished in Algerian blue; the coach in Thebes gray; the landau in Alpine green; the coupe in Dundee gray; while all open models are finished in Biscay green.

All models have a rear view mirror and there is a handy pocket in right front door of closed cars as standard equipment. The landau, sedan and coupe are equipped with disc wheels. Balloon tires are standard equipment on all closed models. The wood wheels on the coach, touring and roadster are now finished in Duco.

So prosperous have become natives of Sumatra, through the soaring rubber prices, that they are buying many automobiles of American make.

MIDLAND STARTS DRIVE AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS

Six Places Raided in Clean-up Campaign.

BOOZE FOUND

Proprietor of Gambling House Draws $100 Fine.

Midland police have launched a campaign against bootlegging and gambling places in the town. During the past few days a number of raids have been conducted.

At the home of Mrs. Mary Rich, the officers say, they found 65 quarts of beer and one and one-half gallons of wine. The raiding party, which consisted of Sergeants Kellar and Stefl, Patrolman McKee and Moore, next visited the home of Mrs. Christina Bekove, Woodlane, where they say they found 44 quarts of beer and a pint of moonshine.

The homes of Cesare Camaioni in Penn avenue was the next place raided. Here the officers alleged they found 200 gallons of bottled beer and 50 gallons in kegs, 150 gallons of wine, part in jugs and part in barrels. The liquor was all destroyed.

Mike Kukuch, of Ohio avenue, was fined $100 and costs for having in his possession two quarts of moonshine and four quarts of wine.

At a house in Midland avenue the officers found a small quantity of moonshine and two barrels of raisin mash. The proprietor, Voyo Duckich, was charged with running a disorderly house and with the possession of intoxicating liquor.

A short time later a gambling place in Penn avenue was raided and the proprietor, Jesse Hodges, negro, better known as "Tree Top," arrested and taken before Justice Kennedy, where he was fined $100 and costs. Six other persons, patrons, of the place, were fined $10 and costs for visiting a disorderly house.
